REPORT.

HEADQUARTERS OF THE POLICE DEPARTMENT,
OFFICE OF THE POLICE COMMISSIONER, 29 FEMBERTON SQUARE,
BOSTON, December 1, 1924.

To His Excellency CHANNING H. COX, Governor.

YOUR EXCELLENCY:—As Police Commissioner for the city of Boston I have the honor to present, in compliance with the provisions of chapter 291 of the Acts of the year 1906, a report of the Police Department for the year ending November 30, 1924.

RELATIVE TO THE SALE AND CARRYING OF FIREARMS.

The need of immediate legislation to remedy the present evils arising from the almost indiscriminate selling and promiscuous carrying of fire arms is apparent. The yearly increase in killings, murderous assaults and hold-ups by persons using revolvers or pistols demand both the attention of the Legislature and the public in general. Since my recommendations of last year for legislation upon this subject, the increase in homicides and assaults with dangerous weapons has been alarming. In this department alone since November 30, 1923, one officer was murdered and five others murderously assaulted, and even while this recommendation is being written, two of these officers are lying at the point of death from pistol wounds received at the hands of a criminal who escaped after holding up with a revolver and brutally assaulting the proprietor of a store.

If the sale of newspapers, magazines and periodicals which contain advertisements of firearms was made a criminal offence, much of the business in firearms now being done by mail order houses outside this Commonwealth could be eliminated. From newspaper reports one of the largest mail order houses in this country has discontinued the sale of firearms through the medium of the post office. This is a step in the right direction and should be followed by other firearms distributors outside this state, but until this practice becomes universal, some legislation is necessary to prevent the easy delivery of dangerous weapons by mail to irresponsible persons in this state. Legislation, therefore, forbidding newspapers, periodicals or magazines containing advertisements concerning firearms being sold in this Commonwealth would have some effect at least in checking this interstate distribution of deadly weapons.

In relation to the sale and distribution of firearms within this Commonwealth, legislation is also necessary to tighten up the present loose methods of the sale and distribution of firearms by retail dealers. Legislation forbidding the sale of revolvers or pistols to any person who has not received a license from the proper licensing authorities to carry the same is necessary in my opinion, inasmuch as under the present method which requires the lapse of one day from the date of application before a firearm can be sold to a person who has not a permit to carry the same, fraud can be and is perpetrated, and firearms are being sold and delivered on the same day to persons who have not a permit to carry a firearm. A permit to carry a firearm in my opinion should not be granted to any unnaturalized person or one who has a criminal record, and the present law in relation to the granting of firearms should be amended to that extent.

I believe that if the Legislature of Massachusetts should pass legislation tending to remedy the conditions under which firearms are being sold and distributed in this Commonwealth, that it would have a salutary effect on the Legislatures of other states to pass similar legislation, and would eventually impress upon Congress the necessity of passing laws relating to firearms, which would have binding effect upon all the states of this Union.

ASSAULTS UPON POLICE OFFICERS.

A police officer being essentially a state officer represents in his official position as a guardian of the peace and a servant sworn to enforce law and order, the state itself. Respect for authority, if not obtained by education, must be created by fear of punishment. Disrespect or interference with the police in the performance of their duty strikes at the root of government. The growth of the idea that personal liberty must not be abridged or curtailed will bring alarming results. An examination of cases of assaults upon police officers since my installation in office in April, 1922, and the disposition of the same by the courts, compels me to recommend that legislation be passed making an assault or attempt to assault a police officer or interference with him in the performance of his duty, a serious criminal offence, carrying with it a jail sentence. The gravity of such an offence is that it is a direct attack upon the state itself is not fully comprehended by the public. As the present law stands, a differentiation is not made between an assault upon a police officer and an assault upon an ordinary citizen. The law-abiding element of this community will understand that if a deliberate assault upon a police officer is disposed of either by a nominal fine or some disposition other than imprisonment, the disorderly element of society becomes emboldened and eventually fails to respect or even fear the police. The morale of a Police Department is also affected by such dispositions of cases of assaults against police officers inasmuch as it gives the Police Force itself the impression that the public does not stand squarely behind it or believe in the importance of its work. In my opinion, the crime of deliberate assault upon a police officer in the performance of his duty should be punished not by a fine, but by a substantial jail sentence.

TRAFFIC.

Boston, as well as every other large city in this country, is faced with the difficult problem of solving its traffic control. A study of the traffic situation and methods adopted to regulate the same in other municipalities is both interesting and enlightening, but the traffic problem in every city is peculiarly individual to it.

In the solution of this problem three features must be carefully considered: the safety of the pedestrian, the creation of vehicular mobility and the protection of the traffic officer and equipment.

Semaphores and other mechanical devices have already been installed at several important traffic points in this city and at the present time are working successfully. The installation of mechanical devices for traffic control, however, cannot eliminate the necessity of man power for this work. With the increase in the number of schoolhouses, additional crossings must be guarded by police officers, inasmuch as it would be impracticable and unwise to force children to rely solely upon semaphores or beacons for protection in crossing the streets. It is necessary also to place traffic officers at the junctions of many streets in this city, inasmuch as the width and contour of the same do not permit the placing of traffic devices to regulate traffic.

In my report of last year I emphasized the fact that the lack of police officers handicaps this department in enforcing the laws relating to the operation of automobiles and especially the rules and regulations promulgated by the Board of Street Commissioners relative to the parking of pleasure cars and other motor vehicles in violation of law, and I again desire to reiterate that this department needs at least 200 additional police officers to be assigned specifically for traffic duty.

With these officers, the increasing number of demands made by merchants, parents and others of this city for better police protection at crossings could be satisfied and traffic continuously controlled. A traffic force could be organized to control traffic at night and on Sundays, a condition which, at the present time, owing to lack of police officers, does not obtain. With these additional police officers, unnecessary and illegal parking, which today is one of the most serious obstacles in the way of traffic control, could be eliminated by the assignment of a number of traffic officers to this particular line of work.

Although not pertinent to the subject of traffic, I believe it advisable to state that in view of the recent increase in the number of hold-ups, robberies and crimes of similar nature, that 100 more men in addition to the 200 police officers previously mentioned, should be added to this department in order that they may be distributed in the various police divisions which at the present time are undermanned.

AUCTION SALES.

Under existing law, the Police Commissioner of Boston has authority to license, as auctioneers, suitable persons who have resided in Boston during the six months next preceding the date of application for such license, which license may be, for cause shown, revoked or suspended without a hearing. Under this power, the authority of the Police Commissioner to regulate auction sales in Boston would seem to be controlling, but inasmuch as, by statute, an auctioneer may sell goods and merchandise in any place within his county, and when employed by others in any place within this Commonwealth, if such sale is made where the property is situated, many auctioneers, licensed by authorities outside the city of Boston, and over whom the licensing authority in Boston has no supervision, do sell goods in this city.

Auction sales in this city of jewelry, watches, diamonds and other articles of personal use or ornament, much of which is sent from outlying cities to be sold in Boston in stores leased for the purpose, seem to be on the increase and, despite the fact that reports have been received from investigating officers of this Department that at many of these auction sales questionable methods have been adopted and false representations made, yet the Police Commissioner often is unable to immediately remedy these abuses because the auctioneers committing the offences are licensed by authorities outside of Boston and by subterfuge are often able to conceal the source from which the merchandise was purchased. Resort must be made, therefore, to criminal prosecution which, with its entailing delays, technicalities and sometime inconsistent verdicts, has not yet produced favorable results in checking this type of fraud.

This Department, at present, has prosecuted and has now under surveillance, several of these auction establishments where jewelry and small wares are being sold, and complaints are being received almost daily from persons who have been defrauded into buying articles of practically no intrinsic value.

To remedy this situation, I recommend legislation whereby the building or establishment in which these auction sales are held, shall be licensed by the same authorities of the cities or towns which at present license auctioneers. The licensing authority then, if convinced upon bona fide complaints that fraud has been committed, can summarily revoke or suspend the license both of the auctioneer committing the offence and of the place where the offence was committed. This system was in practice prior to the Volstead Act in regulating places where intoxicating liquor was sold and could readily be applied to these auction establishments mentioned where tons of cheap bric-a-brac are dumped to be auctioned off and unloaded upon a gullible public needing protection against itself.

LIQUOR TRAFFIC.

Enforcement of the prohibitory laws still stands out as one of the salient features of police work in which the majority of the people of this Commonwealth is interested. In the last state election, an important legislative act amending the state liquor enforcement laws, then in effect, was placed upon the ballot for the consideration of the electorate. This amendment, which in brief forbids the manufacture and transportation of intoxicating liquors without a Federal permit, was ratified by popular vote. Transportation of liquor by aircraft, watercraft or vehicle without a proper permit, therefore, is now a criminal offence. Passage of legislation of this nature was recommended by me in a prior report and after its passage by the Legislature, ratification of the same by the people was also advised.

Although the statistical data in this report cover the police year from December 1, 1923 to November 30, 1924, yet inasmuch as this report is not submitted until the end of the calendar year, interesting information concerning the effectiveness of this new legislation, approved by the people of this state, can be given.

In effect less than a month, the results from the operation of the new law have been instantaneous. The price of intoxicating liquor, as well as other lawful commodities, is determined by the economic law of demand and supply and the reputed sudden rise in the price of intoxicating liquor, especially of alcohol, since this act went into effect, strengthens the conviction that the supply of liquor has considerably decreased. Furthermore, the steady flow inland of liquor from the seaports has been considerably arrested, and interurban traffic in liquor now appears to be negligible. The police of the towns and cities bordering the coast line have taken advantage of this new legislation and are seizing considerable quantities of liquor smuggled ashore. Those engaged in illegal liquor traffic are forced to adopt ingenious schemes and artifices to even bring small amounts of liquor into this city, inasmuch as police officers of this department are successfully discovering and exposing all such ruses. The harbor police, in conjunction with the Federal Internal Revenue Department, have seized thousands of gallons of intoxicating liquors which were being smuggled into this city through its harbor.

Another indication that the new law is checking liquor traffic is the fact that amateur distilling and brewing has again started, as this method of supplying the demand would not be adopted if liquor was readily obtainable elsewhere.

Liquor traffic will continue just as long as the business itself is profitable. Repeated seizures of liquor in the past have caused financial distress and subsequent withdrawal from this type of business of persons whose property was confiscated. A steady unfaltering and persistent crusade against those who are selling, manufacturing or transporting liquor, much of which, although labeled with the trade marks of most distinguished and eminent foreign and domestic brands of liquor, is nothing but a rank concoction of artery hardening poison, will result eventually in the general education of the public to the fact that it has been bilked long enough.

Jail sentences should be meted out to offenders who care nothing as to the direful consequences resulting from the absorption of their wares. Persons who deliberately or with reckless abandon sell poison are not entitled to sympathy even from the courts. The imposition of fines for liquor violations simply spurs on this class to increase its business in order to meet this peculiar form of overhead expense.

INTERCHANGE OF POLICE COMMUNICATIONS.

Although the adoption of a system of rapid police communication between the cities and towns of this state was outlined in my last report, I believe that this is a matter of sufficient importance to stress again this year.

I again urge and recommend the installation of a central communicating station, either at Police Headquarters, Boston, or at the Department of Public Safety, State House, to which all important criminal matters could be communicated either by telephone, telegraph or other communicating device, and thence relayed throughout the Commonwealth.

It is an accepted fact that the commission of serious crimes such as hold-ups, burglaries, hi-jacking, etc., is facilitated by the use of the motor vehicle and it is important that the police not only keep abreast, but ahead, of the present criminals by having at its disposal the most modern methods of detecting crime and apprehending violators of the law.

PUBLICATION OF REGISTRATION NUMBERS OF MOTOR VEHICLES.

The publication of the names and addresses of owners of motor vehicles in Massachusetts, with the assigned registration numbers, will be discontinued next year by the private concern which has, for some time, been publishing this information in pamphlet form, and as a substitute for this published list, the Registrar of Motor Vehicles will furnish information in response to telephonic inquiries.

In police work it is absolutely imperative that a list of the owners of automobiles, with assigned registration numbers, be available day and night for immediate service, and the proposed substitution of telephonic service for this printed list will seriously cripple the police, especially when, as today, the automobile figures so prominently in crime.

A list of owners and registration numbers of motor vehicles registered in Massachusetts should be printed and published by this Commonwealth and distributed to the Police Departments of its various cities and towns.

POLICE PROPERTY.

Continuing the adopted policy of making both police stations and houses of detention sanitary and habitable and police garages fireproof as far as possible with the money allotted to this work in the annual budget, considerable reconditioning, repairing, painting and cleansing have been done in several of the police buildings during the past year.

In the early part of next year, two new police stations will be ready for occupancy: Station 2, a ten-story structure located at Milk and Sears streets, the completion of which has been delayed for some time because of unforeseen difficulties, will house Division 2, now located in an ill-ventilated and poorly equipped building in City Hall Avenue, and also Division 20, Traffic, and the Property Clerk's Bureau, now located in Quincy Hall Market. Station 18, Hyde Park District, will probably be ready for occupancy before the first of March, 1925, replacing an old and inadequate station house with a modern police building.

The former Municipal Court House of Seaverns Avenue, West Roxbury, has been reconstructed and added to Station 13, furnishing a new guard room, wash and toilet rooms and library, together with modern cell rooms for men and women.

The steamer Guardian, the largest of the four boats assigned to the harbor patrol, has been thoroughly overhauled and replaced in service in first class condition.

Since my last report, the site for the new Police Headquarters for which the Legislature give the city of Boston the right to borrow one million dollars outside of the debt limit and for the construction of which the city of Boston also appropriated the additional sum of $50,000, was selected at the corner of Berkeley and Stuart streets. The plans for the completion of this seven-story building have been drawn, submitted and approved and excavating work already has been started.

Very respectfully,
HERBERT A. WILSON.
Police Commissioner for the City of Boston.

DISTRIBUTION AND CHANGES.

The distribution of the police force is shown by Table I. During the year 105 patrolmen were appointed; 2 patrolmen reinstated; 36 patrolmen were discharged; 46 patrolmen resigned; 1 captain, 2 sergeants and 6 patrolmen were retired on pension; 1 captain, 1 inspector, 1 lieutenant, 3 sergeants and 8 patrolmen died. (See Tables II, III, IV, VI.)

POLICE OFFICERS INJURED WHILE ON DUTY.

The following statement shows the number of police officers injured while on duty during the past year, the number of duties lost by them on account thereof, and the causes of the injuries:

HOW INJURED.	Number of Men Injured.	Number of Duties lost.
In arresting prisoners	92	812
In pursuing criminals	24	403
By stopping runaways	4	1
By cars and other vehicles	60	650
Various other causes	122	930
Total	302	2,790

WORK OF THE DEPARTMENT.

Arrests.

The total number of persons arrested counting each arrest as that of a separate person was 83,917 as against 76,732 the preceding year, being an increase of 7,185. The percentage of decrease and increase was as follows:—

	Per Cent.
Offences against the person	Increase, 7.41
Offences against property committed with violence	Increase, 34.83
Offences against property committed without violence	Increase, 8.85
Malicious offences against property	Increase, 2.60
Forgery and offences against the currency	Increase, 16.66
Offences against the license law	Increase, 19.25
Offences against chastity, morality, etc.	Increase, 9.95
Offences not included in the foregoing	Increase, 8.68

There were 12,626 persons arrested on warrants and 54,459 without warrants; 16,832 persons were summoned by the court; 79,448 persons were held for trial; 4,469 were released from custody. The number of males arrested was 78,244; of females, 5,673; of foreigners, 29,304; or approximately 34.92 per cent; of minors, 8,995. Of the total number arrested 21,263, or 25.33 per cent, were nonresidents. (See Tables X, XI.)

The average amount of fines imposed by the courts for the five years from 1920 to 1924 inclusive, was $215,363.82; in 1924 it was $221,577.15; or $6,213.33 more than the average.

The average number of days' attendance at court was 39,320; in 1924 it was 43,014, or 3,694 more than the average. The average amount of witness fees earned was $12,697.14; in 1924 it was $14,059.70, or $1,362.56 more than the average. (See Table XIII.)

Drunkennes.

In the arrests for drunkenness the average per day was 108. There were 548 more persons arrested than in 1923, an increase of 1.40 per cent; 24.14 per cent of the arrested persons were nonresidents, and 38.92 per cent were of foreign birth. (See Table XI.)

BUREAU OF CRIMINAL INVESTIGATION.

The "identification room" now contains 65,021 photographs, 55,081 of which are photographs with Bertillon measurements, a system used by the Department for the past twenty-six years. In accordance with the Revised laws, chapter 225, section 18 and with the General Laws, chapter 127, sections 27 to 29 both inclusive, we are allowed photographs with Bertillon measurements taken of convicts in the State Prison and reformatory, a number of which have been added to our Bertillon cabinets. This, together with the adoption of the system by the Department in 1898, is and will continue to be of great assistance in the identification of criminals. A large number of important identifications have thus been made during the year for this and other police departments, through which the sentences in many instances, have been materially increased. The records of 1,139 criminals have been added to the records of this Bureau, which now contains a total of 45,180. The number of cases reported at this office which have been investigated during this year is 40,062. There are 39,174 cases reported on the assignment books kept for this purpose, and reports made on these cases are filed away for future reference. The system of indexing adopted by this Bureau for the use of the Department now contains a list of records, histories, photographs, dates of arrest, etc., of about 200,000 persons. There are also "histories and press clippings," now numbering 8,856 made by this Bureau, in envelope form, for police reference.

The finger-print system of identification which was adopted in June, 1906, has progressed in a satisfactory manner, and with it the identification of criminals is facilitated. It has become very useful in tracing criminals and furnishing corroborating evidence in many instances.

The statistics of the work of this branch of the service are included in the statement of the general work of the Department, but as the duties are of a special character the following statement will be of interest:—

Number of persons arrested, principally for felonies	2,484
Fugitives from justice from other States, arrested and delivered to officers from those States	40
Number of cases investigated	40,062
Number of extra duties performed	1,796
Number of cases of homicide and supposed homicide investigated and evidence prepared for trial in court	203
Number of cases of abortion and supposed abortion investigated and evidence prepared for court	7
Number of days spent in court by officers	2,963
Number of years' imprisonment imposed by court, 215 years, 6 months.
Amount of stolen property recovered	$1,079,093.48
Number of photographs added to identification room	1,147

The nativity of the prisoners was as follows:—

United States	54,613	West Indies	95
British Provinces	4,073	Turkey	102
Ireland	9,039	South America	50
England	702	Switzerland	16
France	115	Belgium	47
Germany	410	Armenia	110
Italy	4,682	Africa	8
Russia	4,327	Hungary	8
China	156	Asia	4
Greece	751	Arabia	5
Sweden	551	Mexico	14
Scotland	458	Japan	5
Spain	118	Syria	192
Norway	276	Roumania	17
Poland	1,061	Lithuania	540
Australia	33	Servia	3
Austria	173	Jugo-Slavia	1
Portugal	329	India	1
Finland	186	Egypt	1
Denmark	80	Albania	7
Holland	37	Bohemia	1
Wales	6	Cuba	3
East Indies	21
		Total	83,917

The number of arrests for the year was 83,917, being an increase of 7,185 over last year, and 10,061 more than the average for the past five years. There were 39,536 persons arrested for drunkenness, being 548 more than last year, and 5,746 more than the average for the past five years. Of the arrests for drunkenness this year there was an increase of 1.23 per cent in males and an increase of .23 per cent in females from last year. (See Tables XI, XIII.)

Of the total number of arrests for the year (83,917), 693 were for violation of city ordinances; that is to say that 1 arrest in 121 was for such offence, or .82, per cent.

Fifty-nine and fourteen hundredths per cent of the persons taken into custody were between the ages of twenty and forty. (See Table XII.)

The number of persons punished by fines was 22,604 and the fines amounted to $221,577.15. (See Table XIII.)

Eighty-eight persons were committed to the State Prison, 2,482 to the House of Correction, 31 to the Women's Prison, 101 to the Reformatory Prison and 1,271 to other institutions. The total years of imprisonment were 87 indefinite, 1,655 years, 3 months; the total number of days' attendance at court by officers was 43,014 and the witness fees earned by them amounted to $14,059.70.

The value of property taken from prisoners and lodgers was $278,021.89.

Fifteen witnesses were detained at station houses, 204 were accommodated with lodgings, an increase of $1 from last year. There was an increase of .38 per cent in the number of sick and injured persons assisted, and a decrease of about .37 per cent in the number of lost children cared for.

The average amount of property stolen in the city for the five years from 1920 to 1924 inclusive, was $1,825,659.35, in 1924 it was $1,829,435.95 or $3,776.60 more than the average. The amount of property stolen in and out of the city which was recovered by the Boston police was $2,547,376.29 as against $3,006,293.17 last year or $458,916.88 less.

OFFICER DETAILED TO ASSIST MEDICAL EXAMINERS.

The officer detailed to assist the medical examiners reports having investigated 850 cases of death from the following causes:—

Abortion	3	Machinery	4
Accidental shooting	1	Natural causes	291
Alcoholism	24	Poison	51
Asphyxiation	5	Railroad (steam)	17
Automobiles	4	Railway (street)	1
Burns	28	Stillborns	9
Drowning	48	Suicides	64
Electricity	1	Homicides	191
Elevator	8	Teams	1
Explosion	1
Falling objects	7
Falls	91	Total	850

On 317 of the above cases inquests were held.

Of the total number the following homicides were prosecuted in the courts:—

Automobiles	127	Railway (street)	17
Boxing match	1	Shot by officer	1
Burns	1	Stone thrown	1
Elevators	1	Suicides	2
Manslaughter	22	Teams	6
Murder	5	Wrestling match	1
Poison	3
Railroad (steam)	3	Total	191

LOST, ABANDONED AND STOLEN PROPERTY.

On December 1, 1923, there were 2,142 articles of lost, stolen or abandoned property in the custody of the property clerk; 1,257 were received during the year; 797 pieces were sold at public auction and the proceeds $895.60 were turned over to the chief clerk; 192 packages containing $1,002.02 were turned over to the chief clerk; 492 packages were destroyed as worthless or sold as junk and the proceeds $465.70 turned over to the chief clerk; and 93 packages were returned to owners, finders or administrators, leaving 1,825 packages on hand.

POLICE SIGNAL SERVICE.Signal Boxes.

The total number of boxes in use is 508. Of these, 343 are connected with the underground system and 165 with the overhead.

Miscellaneous Work.

During the year the employees of this service responded to 1,605 trouble calls; inspected 508 signal boxes, 13 signal desks and 955 batteries; repaired 153 box movements, 38 registers, 62 polar box bells, 53 locks, 27 time stamps, 3 stable motors, 7 stable registers, 12 vibrator bells, 9 relays, 6 pole changers and 8 electric fans, besides repairing all bell and electric light work at headquarters and the various stations. There have been made 48 plungers, 34 complete box fittings, 42 line blocks, 39 automatic hooks, 3 stable boards, 1 charging board and a large amount of small work done which cannot be classified.

A new police signal box has been installed at Columbus Park, Police Division 12.

The Police Signal Service has underground cable laid and jointed ready to change over to meet conditions when the new building for Police Division 2 is ready for occupancy.

When the new building for Police Division 18, Hyde Park district, is completed, the Police Signal System at that place will be changed to conform to the system used in the rest of the Department. The system in use in the Hyde Park district, since its annexation to Boston, has been different from that in other sections of the city.

In 1924 underground prescribed district ducts have been installed in Porter Street, East Boston district. Police signal box 31 located in the latter district will be connected with the underground system.

In South Boston a duct has been laid and Box 45, Police Division 6 will be connected with such underground system.

Since the introduction of motor vehicles in this Department, it has been necessary to install additional service connecting the sleeping quarters of "wagon men" so-called (isolated from the garages), with the stations. As new garages are completed new and improved call boards are installed.

The Police Signal Service now has charge of 83 reflector spotlights, which have been installed by the Commissioner for the regulation of traffic.

There are in use in the signal service: 1 White truck, 1 Ford sedan and 1 Ford truck.

During the year the wagons made 52,702 runs, covering an aggregate distance of 81,360 miles. There were 39,897 prisoners conveyed to the station houses, 4,684 runs were made to take injured or insane persons to station houses, hospitals or their homes and 406 runs were made to take lost children to station houses. There were 2,701 runs to fires and 551 runs for liquor seizures. During the year there were 508 signal boxes in use arranged on 72 battery circuits and 70 telephone circuits; 579,435 telephone messages and 3,937,422 "on duty" calls were sent over the lines.

The following list comprises the property in the signal service at the present time:—

18 signal desks
72 circuits
508 street signal boxes
14 stable call boards
78 test boxes
955 cells of battery
622,017 feet underground cable

224,140 feet overhead cable
21,220 feet of duct
66 manholes
1 White truck
1 Ford truck
1 Ford sedan

REPORT.

HEADQUARTERS OF THE POLICE DEPARTMENT,
OFFICE OF THE POLICE COMMISSIONER, 29 PEMBERTON SQUARE,
BOSTON, Dec. 1, 1925.

To His Excellency ALVAN T. FULLER, Governor.

YOUR EXCELLENCY:—As Police Commissioner for the city of Boston I have the honor to present, in compliance with the provisions of chapter 291 of the Acts of the year 1906, a report of the Police Department for the year ending November 30, 1925.

ENFORCEMENT OF THE PROHIBITION LAWS.

Since my last report upon this subject, I am pleased to state that the general liquor situation in this city has been greatly improved. The source of supply of contraband liquor, either from caches in outlying cities and towns or from stills within this city, due to the vigilance and activities of the police, has been noticeably reduced. Many large operators in the illicit liquor business have been not only driven out of this particular occupation but have been actually reduced to penury. The problem of intelligent enforcement of the prohibitory laws is of a two-fold nature; first, liquor must be prevented from flowing into this city from adjacent territories, and the manufacture of so-called "moonshine" eliminated within the city itself; and second, the illegal distribution of liquor at various points within the city must be curtailed.

This Department by its unceasing efforts has stopped the steady flow of liquor into this city and has reduced the amount of liquor illegally transported within its borders to practically a negligible quantity. In regard to the distribution of liquor from stores, dwelling houses and various places of business in this city, the situation is as tense as it was a year ago when legislation placing criminal responsibility upon owners of property where liquor was illegally sold, was defeated by the legislature of this Commonwealth, although this legislation was supported and urgently requested by the police departments of many of the cities and towns of this State. A general outline of the liquor problem, while interesting, seldom gives the public a real conception of actual conditions. An actual pen picture of liquor conditions in this city, conditions which the police are faced with, demonstrates that some legislative aid must be given to those officers of this Commonwealth who, sworn to the performance of their duty, are attempting to enforce the prohibition laws despite the many obstacles placed in their path.

The following figures compiled in the office of the Police Commissioner, comprising the period from December 1, 1923, to November 30, 1925, may be interesting. One place in this city where liquor was illegally sold was raided 25 times; one place, 24 times; one place, 23 times; one place, 21 times; four places, 20 times; one place, 19 times; one place, 18 times; four places, 17 times; one place, 16 times; eight places, 15 times; six places, 14 times; five places, 13 times; nine places, 12 times; fourteen places, 11 times; sixteen places, 10 times; twenty-six places, 9 times; twenty-two places, 8 times; forty-five places, 7 times. Figures on places where liquor was sold and which were raided less than seven times were not computed.

Because of the difficulty experienced with continued violations of the liquor law at these various establishments which operate in violation of the law, I recommend legislation which will empower me to proceed much the same as is now provided for in prosecutions of houses of prostitution under General Laws, chapter 139, sections 6 to 12, inclusive, and which will afford a means that will authorize the police to seek a permanent remedy against the place where such liquor is sold in violation of law. Such legislation is urgent, because the Police Department has found from experience that although many prosecutions have been made with resulting convictions, these violators of the law continue to operate in the same premises until a further search and seizure is made, when it is found that a different defendant appears and assumes the burden of defending the subsequent prosecution. This practice prevails to a large extent, so that one establishment may be raided several times and a different defendant appear in each instance. I, therefore, recommend legislation that will provide a remedy which will authorize the police to close, for a substantial period of time, premises which are found to be continually operating in violation of law. With this legislation, the municipal police could attain the same results as the Federal authorities now are accomplishing by means of the padlock law under the Volstead Act.

Another feature of the liquor situation that requires remedial legislation is that no criminal responsibility rests on persons transporting methyl alcohol or so-called wood alcohol in containers or receptacles not marked to denote that wood alcohol is contained therein. Under the present law of this Commonwealth, it is a criminal offence to sell, exchange or deliver methyl alcohol not properly labeled; yet the transportation of the same without being labeled as such, to places where it may be redistilled, and the redistilled product placed on the market, is not a criminal offence.

Large quantities of methyl alcohol—or wood alcohol so-called—or denatured alcohol, are now being distributed throughout the Commonwealth in containers bearing false labels, such as linseed oil—rubbers—molasses—fish oil. This alcohol is shipped from place to place, redistilled and then distributed for beverage purposes. In order to prohibit this practice, I recommend that the law now requiring such alcohol to be properly labeled when sold, exchanged or delivered, require it to be so labeled when transported. In other words, to insert the word transport into the Act covering such sale, exchange or delivery.

This type of law violator, the redistiller of wood alcohol, is one of the meanest in the criminal category, inasmuch as the article, wood alcohol, which he attempts to redistill, he has no hesitancy in placing on the market, although the poisonous substances contained in the original liquid are not fully eliminated in the redistilled product. He can be aptly classified as a potential murderer, and every assistance possible in the enactment of law by the legislature should be given the police to help them in their efforts to track to its destination the transported wood alcohol so that the illegal receivers of the same may be prosecuted and punished by the courts.

TRAFFIC CONTROL.

The control of vehicular and pedestrian traffic in this city is now and has been for some time a very difficult problem. With the increasing yearly number of registrations, additional plans, studies and preparations have been made in order to keep the flow of traffic continuous; at the same time, in working out the problem, serious consideration must be given to our merchants whose money is invested in department stores and other lines of business. At the present time, one of our large department stores is building a garage for the accommodation of its customers. There is also one other garage located in this city, whereby customers of certain department stores may park their automobiles free, for two hours in the forenoon.

The solution of the traffic problem in Boston, because of the width and peculiar contour of the streets, is one which must be worked out to meet actual conditions which arise from time to time. These conditions differ greatly from those which confront the police in other cities, where traffic control can be accomplished largely by means of a synchronized lighting system. The use of semaphores cannot eliminate entirely the necessity of man power in the control of traffic. Since my last report a permanent semaphore has been installed at the intersection of Boylston and Tremont streets. The operation of this signal has solved the traffic problem which confronted the police at this busy and dangerous corner. Through the courtesy and kindness of Louis E. Kirstein, Esq., of the William Filene's Sons Company, and of William L. Shearer, Esq., of the Paine Furniture Company of this city, similar towers have been donated to the city of Boston and will soon be erected at the junction of Summer and Washington streets and at the intersection of Boylston and Arlington streets. In addition, it is proposed during the coming year to place traffic semaphores at the intersections of Commonwealth and Massachusetts avenues and of Massachusetts Avenue and Beacon Street. A large number of flashing beacons and other signalling devices have been installed at dangerous street intersections throughout the city and they help in no small degree to eliminate accidents at these places. During the year 15 spotlight poles were installed, in addition to those already in service in different locations throughout the city, to guard traffic officers on fixed posts. This makes a total of 99 spotlights now in use in the city.

The same constant demand for traffic officers to protect school children and adult pedestrians, at places now unprotected, has been met by the response that many dangerous traffic points could not be covered because of the lack of police officers. In certain sections of the city, some of the main highways at different times during the day become practically impassable to pedestrians at unpoliced crossings because of what may be called the barrage of automobiles passing along these streets. In order to properly police this city, three hundred additional police officers should be added to this Department. These men would be apportioned to the two traffic divisions and to the other police divisions. It should be understood that while primarily it is the duty of a traffic officer to direct vehicular and pedestrian traffic, yet he may and often does, in addition, undertake the same type of work as an officer attached to a division, of maintaining peace and protecting property.

Another feature of traffic control, the adoption of which has proved successful in several western cities, and which I advocated in 1924, before the Joint Special Committee on the Control, Supervision and Regulation of Motor Vehicles, is the so-called "right-of-way or boulevard stop." It requires vehicles to come to a full stop before entering or crossing a boulevard. This "boulevard stop" has distinct advantages inasmuch as operators of through traffic with the right of way can move rapidly without fear of side street traffic entering unexpectedly into the main traffic current. At this time the Board of Street Commissioners has proposed to put this "boulevard stop" into operation on Shawmut Avenue, and the same could advantageously be adopted on several other boulevards of this city. If this regulation is universally adopted, repealing General Laws, chapter 89, section 8, which gives a vehicle on the right, approaching an intersecting street, the right of way, in my opinion a great number of unnecessary and serious accidents would be eliminated.

Considerable more study must be given to the subject of traffic control in Boston. Sacrifice of valuable mercantile property in the widening of streets, resulting in the creation of additional parking spaces in the highways of this city, is both expensive and futile. A large portion of the traffic now passing through the congested area of Boston is so-called "through traffic," and suitable routes should be marked out to "by-pass" the same. In other cities such "by-passing" has worked successfully, and merchants of Boston will find that the use of such "by-passing" will increase their business, inasmuch as it gives greater facility of approach to a larger number of those who desire to trade in the city.

Gifford LeClair, Esq., Chairman of Committee on Street Traffic and Municipal and Metropolitan Affairs of the Boston Chamber of Commerce, and Ellerton J. Brehaut, Esq., Assistant Secretary of the Boston Chamber of Commerce, have rendered this Department valuable assistance in giving much of their time and effort to the study of the adoption of beacons and semaphores as affecting traffic control, and their counsel and judgment have been of exceeding value.

FIREARMS.

I recommend that further legislation be enacted to prevent the sale or use of silencers or any instrument, attachment, weapon, or appliance for causing the firing of a gun, revolver, pistol or other firearm to be silent, or intended to lessen or muffle the noise of the firing of the same. Such devices are now being manufactured and placed on sale. This instrument has recently been used in other cities outside this Commonwealth and legislation in this direction is necessary to assist the police in apprehending offenders who use this device in the commission of crime.

I again recommend for consideration, such legislation as will forbid in the Commonwealth of Massachusetts the sale of magazines or periodicals, published either in Massachusetts or other places outside of the Commonwealth, advertising the sale of firearms. If such legislation were enacted into law, it would, in my opinion, help to stop the indiscriminate distribution of firearms by mail order houses, many of such firearms now finding their way into the hands of youths and other irresponsible people.

While I agree that such legislation would be more effective if passed by the Congress of the United States, yet until this is done I believe that this Commonwealth should lead the way and do all possible to curtail such sales. If laws can be enacted to prohibit the sale of magazines containing obscene pictures and stories not fit for publication, and forbidding licensed persons to display in their windows any gun, pistol or other firearm, they can likewise be passed to stop the advertising of these death-dealing weapons.

Some legislation was passed last year relative to the regulation of the sale of firearms, but the recommendation relative to the purchaser of a firearm, that he first procure a license to carry the same, is of the utmost importance and should become a law.

I therefore recommend the passage of such legislation as will require all persons purchasing, renting or leasing firearms, to first procure a license to carry the same. Such license should have stamped thereon the time and place of such sale, rental or lease, and no subsequent sale, rental or lease of a firearm should be made to any person whose license to carry a firearm shows that he had previously purchased, rented or leased the same.

RELATIVE TO THE THEFT, CONCEALMENT AND MISAPPROPRIATION OF MOTOR VEHICLES.

Owing to the large number of automobiles being stolen, not only in Boston but throughout the Commonwealth, I believe that the statute covering this offence should be amended. At the present time, most of these offenders are being charged with "unlawful appropriation of automobiles" and are being prosecuted under the old statute (General Laws, chapter 266, section 63), which was intended to apply to the unlawful taking of horses and carriages, and consequently a nominal fine is usually imposed in such cases and which has no deterrent effect upon the so-called automobile thief. In 1919, a law was placed upon the Statute Books known as chapter 249, relative to the thefts of motor vehicles, which imposed a penalty of imprisonment in the State Prison for not less than five nor more than ten years. This Act remained in force for a period of only eleven months, during which time but few automobiles were stolen. This Act was amended in 1920 by chapter 322, changing the penalty to imprisonment in the State Prison for not more than five years or imprisonment in jail or the House of Correction for not less than one year. Few cases are now being prosecuted under this Act.

I therefore recommend that chapter 266, section 63, of the General Laws be amended by adding at the end of said section, the following: that the word "vehicle" in this section shall not apply to a motor vehicle or motor cycle; that chapter 322 of the acts of 1920 be repealed; and that a new Act be passed, making the penalty for stealing a motor vehicle or motorcycle, imprisonment in the State Prison for not less than five years.

NEED OF MORE POLICE OFFICERS.

The number of police officers in this Department cannot be increased except by concurrent authorization of the Mayor. The present quota is 1,724 patrolmen and 8 policewomen. Since February 1, 1920, a period of practically six years, this quota has been increased only by the addition of 150 police officers and 8 policewomen. The argument that, inasmuch as the population of Boston has increased in the last ten years only 35,000, the present police force is sufficient, is not tenable, because this Department is obliged yearly to take care of millions of persons coming in from outlying cities and towns, and a glance at the table of arrests will show that a large percentage of those arrested by the police officers of this Department are not residents of Boston.

The National Prohibition Act, prohibiting the sale, manufacture and distribution of intoxicating liquor, went into effect on July 1, 1919, and constantly from that period, the Federal government has been appropriating yearly increasing sums of money and providing additional men to enforce this Act. Liquor-law enforcement in this city is becoming more burdensome each year, and additional officers should be given to this Department if this work is to be continued in a business-like manner.

Control of automobile traffic, and incidentally of pedestrian traffic, as previously stated in my report, is of enormous importance. With over a half a million automobiles registered yearly in this State, most of which find their way at some time or other into Boston, a day and night, Sunday and holiday traffic force is required, but on account of the insufficient number of men, these additions to the traffic divisions cannot be made. Consequently, route men are taken from the various station houses to work at traffic posts.

Officers attached to divisions other than traffic should be patrolling routes, protecting the lives and property of citizens. Hundreds of police officers attend court every day and, while in court, substitutes should be on their respective routes.

Unfortunately this cannot be done and many times officers must cover two routes, a condition which should not exist as the citizens are entitled to the fullest protection possible consistent with economy.

Many additional street rules and regulations have been passed by the Board of Street Commissioners, thus placing more work upon this Department in seeing that the same are enforced. These rules and regulations are put into effect to expedite traffic conditions in this city, and to allow them to become nugatory through lack of enforcement would seriously embarrass the traffic situation, for traffic must be kept fluid so that property may be protected and business continued.

With the number of schoolhouses in this city increased, necessarily the number of crossings where children should be guarded has correspondingly increased; in fact today on the main boulevards and highways practically all crossings should be policed, inasmuch as a pedestrian is entitled to the same protection as the operator of an automobile.

As the number of licensed motor hackney carriages in this city has increased since 1910 from 317 to 1,738, with a corresponding decrease for the same period in horse-drawn hackney carriages from 1,714 to 28, it is apparent that the control of these vehicles necessarily demands an increased number of officers to take care of this particular traffic.

Many of the outlying districts which a few years ago did not have or need the same number of officers apportioned to them as the intown divisions, now, owing to the fact that the population of these outlying districts has greatly increased, require as many, and in some instances more officers than the downtown stations. In many divisions it is practically impossible for an officer to try the doors of stores and mercantile establishments and "pull" his duty calls on time. Routes must be shortened and more officers added to take care of them.

The number of available police officers in this Department at times is also seriously reduced by sickness and disability, vacations, details at libraries, public buildings, public parks, parades, conventions, expositions and strikes, and also by many investigations, such as jurors' lists, club incorporators, etc.

The question of adding additional officers to the Department I intend to take up with the incoming Mayor, as soon as practicable after his inauguration.

RAPID COMMUNICATION OF POLICE NEWS.

As stated in a previous report, in order to cope with the present day criminal the police must have at their disposal the most speedy means and mechanism for communicating news of the commission of a crime to the various police departments of outlying cities and towns within a radius of twenty-five miles.

The automobile today is an important factor in the commission of crime and because of the speed and celerity with which the crime can be committed and the get-away of the criminal accomplished, it is also absolutely necessary that all information in relation to the commission of a crime be instantly communicated without delay to outlying cities and towns, so that the offenders may be captured before they have a chance to leave the borders of this State, and thus force upon the police the burden of extraditing them, if captured later. A central station from which police news could be broadcast, situated either at the new Headquarters of the Boston Police Department or at the State House, should be immediately installed. It now takes forty minutes to transmit information to all cities and towns within a radius of ten miles of Boston. When as many as thirty cars are stolen in a day, one can readily see the necessity of a system that will communicate all information in a much quicker way. With a central radiating station at either of these points, many culprits can be apprehended who now are able to accomplish their escape because of the slow and antiquated methods at present in use to notify cities and towns adjacent to Boston of a crime committed in this city.

I am not at this time advocating any particular system of intercommunication, but such useful information may be obtained by an investigating committee, which would inspect the various systems which have been adopted in other cities outside this State.

Such a communicating system would also be very useful in notifying the various police departments of the registration numbers of stolen automobiles, and other news items of importance to the police.

POLICE PROPERTY.

The new Station House on Hyde Park Avenue, Hyde Park District, for Division 18, was dedicated on December 31, 1924, and on March 4, 1925, the old and unsanitary building formerly used as a police station was abandoned for this new, commodious and modern police building.

On February 14, 1925, the new ten-story police building at 229 Milk Street was dedicated, and in the following month police division 2, then at the old quarters on City Hall Avenue, traffic division 20 and the Property Clerk's office, the two latter having been located in temporary quarters in the Quincy Market Hall building, were transferred to permanent quarters in this new building.

These two new buildings embody the latest architectural features in the construction of police buildings and are the fulfillment of a long-felt need in this Department.

On August 25, 1925, the corner stone of the new Police Headquarters building, situated on the corner of Berkeley and Stuart streets, was laid with fitting ceremonies. This building will probably be completed and ready for occupancy in the early part of next year, and the present ill-adapted, unsanitary and over-crowded Headquarters building now in Pemberton Square, abandoned.

Five new motor patrol wagons were bought and placed in commission during the year and considerable repair work was done on the four harbor police boats.

Stations 9 and 17 were repainted throughout, and general repairs were made in several of the other station houses. In stations 1 and 3, new heating plants were installed and all station houses have been kept in good order.

There are, however, several station houses of this Department that are unsanitary, antiquated and overcrowded. Among them are station 5 on East Dedham Street, station 4 on LaGrange Street and station 3 on Joy Street.

I intend to make an effort during the ensuing year to obtain an appropriation from the City Government to replace one or more of these old buildings with new and modern station houses.

One of the most important needs of this Department at the present time is the erection of a garage large enough to store at least one hundred cars, with a repair shop attached.

The law requires that all lost, stolen and abandoned motor vehicles, recovered by the police, shall be carefully stored until returned to their rightful owners.

At the present time many abandoned and stolen cars, recovered by officers of this Department, are now stored in private garages, storehouses, and police division garages and yards adjoining them. These should be stored in one central garage, which could be utilized both as a clearing house for missing cars and as a place where both the spare and other cars in use by this Department could be stored, and where also all the repair work on the rolling stock of this Department could be done.

New court-houses are being constructed in the Dorchester and Brighton districts and when completed the courts will vacate the quarters now occupied for court purposes at police division 11, Dorchester, and police division 14, Brighton. It will then be possible to take over the quarters thus vacated and allow of increased facilities for police business in both of these buildings.

CENSUS TAKING.

In April of this year, the Department, at the request of His Honor the Mayor, performed the work of taking a census of the inhabitants of this city residing therein as of March 31, provided for by section 7, chapter 453 of the Acts of 1924.

The work was done according to the new ward lines effective April 1, whereby the number of wards in the city was reduced from 26 to 22.

The result of the work of the Department in such census taking was as follows:—

Ward No.	Inhabitants.

DISTRIBUTION AND CHANGES.

The distribution of the police force is shown by Table I. During the year 73 patrolmen were appointed; 2 patrolmen reinstated; 37 patrolmen were discharged; 40 patrolmen resigned and 1 patrolman was transferred to the Department of Public Utilities; 1 inspector, 3 sergeants and 10 patrolmen were retired on pensions; 1 inspector, 4 sergeants and 10 patrolmen died. (See Tables II, III, IV, VI.)

POLICE OFFICERS INJURED WHILE ON DUTY.

The following statement shows the number of police officers injured while on duty during the past year, the number of duties lost by them on account thereof, and the causes of the injuries.

HOW INJURED.	Number of Men Injured.	Number of Duties Lost.
In arresting prisoners	45	379
In pursuing criminals	13	778
By stopping runaways	9	21
By cars and other vehicles	57	650
Various other causes	73	433
Total	197	2,261

WORK OF THE DEPARTMENT.

Arrests.

The total number of arrests, counting each arrest as that of a separate person, was 83,145 as against 83,917 the preceding year, being a decrease of 772. The percentage of decrease and increase was as follows:—

	Per Cent.
Offences against the person	Decrease 5.76
Offences against property committed with violence	Decrease 25.48
Offences against property committed without violence	Decrease .51
Malicious offences against property	Decrease 14.21
Forgery and offences against the currency	Increase 34.28
Offences against the license law	Increase 15.39
Offences against chastity, morality, etc.	Increase 6.42
Offences not included in the foregoing	Decrease 1.82

There were 13,480 persons arrested on warrants and 52,288 without warrants; 17,377 persons were summoned by the courts; 79,101 persons were held for trial; 4,044 were released from custody. The number of males arrested was 77,813; of females, 5,332; of foreigners, 27,766; or approximately 33.39 per cent; of minors, 8,445. Of the total number arrested, 20,353, or 24.47 per cent, were nonresidents. (See Tables X, XI.)

The average amount of fines imposed by the courts for the five years from 1921 to 1925, inclusive, was $272,891.12; in 1925 it was $442,404; or $169,512.88 more than the average.

The average number of days' attendance at court was 45,252; in 1925 it was 58,562, or 13,310 more than the average. The average amount of witness fees earned was $14,644.45; in 1925 it was $17,354.16, or $2,709.71 more than the average. (See Table XIII.)

Drunkenness.

In the arrests for drunkenness the average per day was 104. There were 1,592 less persons arrested than in 1924, a decrease of 4.02 per cent; 23.29 per cent of the arrested persons were nonresidents and 39.32 were of foreign birth. (See Table XI.)

BUREAU OF CRIMINAL INVESTIGATION.

The "identification room" now contains 66,007 photographs, 55,359 of which are photographs with Bertillon measurements, a system used by the Department since November 30, 1898. In accordance with the Revised Laws, chapter 225, section 18, and with the General Laws, chapter 127, sections 27 to 29, both inclusive, we are allowed photographs with Bertillon measurements taken of the convicts in the State Prison and Reformatory, a number of which have been added to our Bertillon cabinets. This, together with the adoption of the system by the Department in 1898, is and will continue to be of great assistance in the identification of criminals. A large number of important identifications have thus been made during the year for this and other police departments, through which the sentences in many instances have been materially increased. The records of 928 criminals have been added to the records of this Bureau, which now contains a total of 46,108. The number of cases reported at this office which have been investigated during the year is 42,208. There are 41,349 cases reported on the assignment books kept for this purpose, and reports made on these cases are filed away for future reference. The system of indexing adopted by this Bureau for the use of the Department now contains a list of records, histories, photographs, dates of arrests, etc., of about 205,000 persons. There are also "histories and press clippings" now numbering 9,037 made by this Bureau, in envelope form, for police reference.

The finger-print system of identification which was adopted in June, 1906, has progressed in a satisfactory manner, and with it the identification of criminals is facilitated. It has become very useful in tracing criminals and furnishing corroborating evidence in many instances.

The statistics of the work of this branch of the service are included in the statement of the general work of the Department, but as the duties are of a special character the following statement will be of interest:—

Number of persons arrested, principally for felonies	3,053
Fugitives from justice from other States, arrested and delivered to officers from those States	58
Number of cases investigated	42,208
Number of extra duties performed	2,261
Number of cases of homicide and supposed homicide investigated and evidence prepared for trial in court	201
Number of cases of abortion and supposed abortion investigated and evidence prepared for court	10
Number of days spent in court by officers	3,168
Number of years' imprisonment imposed by court, 207 years, 6 months
Amount of stolen property recovered	$537,918.39
Number of photographs added to identification room	986

The nativity of the prisoners was as follows:—

United States	55,379	West Indies	115
British Provinces	3,657	Turkey	71
Ireland	8,763	South America	36
England	732	Switzerland	11
France	102	Belgium	31
Germany	257	Armenia	112
Italy	4,258	Africa	8
Russia	4,141	Hungary	9
China	370	Asia	1
Greece	709	Arabia	4
Sweden	736	Mexico	10
Scotland	457	Japan	22
Spain	84	Syria	253
Norway	313	Roumania	4
Poland	958	Lithuania	647
Australia	32	Servia	4
Austria	175	Philippine Islands	1
Portugal	359	Egypt	3
Finland	161	Albania	19
Denmark	69	Cuba	2
Holland	46
Wales	6
East Indies	18	Total	83,145

The number of arrests for the year was 83,145, being a decrease of 772 from last year, and 4,424 more than the average for the past five years. There were 37,944 persons arrested for drunkenness, being 1,592 less than last year, and 925 more than the average for the past five years. Of the arrests for drunkenness this year, there was a decrease of 3.33 per cent in males and a decrease of 17.27 per cent in females from last year. (See Tables XI, XIII.)

Of the total number of arrests for the year (83,145), 543 were for violation of the city ordinances; that is to say that one arrest in 153 was for such offence, or .65 per cent.

Fifty-nine and forty-nine hundredths per cent of the persons taken into custody were between the ages of twenty and forty. (See Table XII.)

The number of persons punished by fines was 24,447 and the fines amounted to $442,404. (See Table XIII.)

Sixty persons were committed to the State Prison, 2,882 to the House of Correction, 42 to the Women's Prison, 119 to the Reformatory prison and 1,777 to other institutions. The total years of imprisonment were 2,430 (224 sentences indefinite); the total number of days' attendance at court by officers was 58,562 and the witness fees earned by them amounted to $17,354.16.

The value of the property taken from prisoners and lodgers was $264,822.92.

Eight witnesses were detained at station houses, 213 were accommodated with lodgings, an increase of nine over last year. There was a decrease of 11.32 per cent in the number of sick and injured persons assisted, and a decrease of about 19.73 per cent in the number of lost children cared for.

The average amount of property stolen in the city for the five years from 1921 to 1925 inclusive, was $1,972,845.38, in 1925 it was $2,366,939.23 or $394,093.85 more than the average. The amount of property stolen in and out of the city, which was recovered by the Boston police, was $2,804,798.15 as against $2,547,376.29 last year or $257,421.86 more.

OFFICER DETAILED TO ASSIST MEDICAL EXAMINERS.

The officer detailed to assist the medical examiners reports having investigated 852 cases of death from the following causes:—

Abortion	6	Machinery	5
Accidental shooting	1	Motorcycles	1
Aeroplane	2	Natural causes	289
Alcoholism	24	Poison	41
Automobiles	6	Railroad (steam)	17

Drowning	35	Teams	5
Elevators	8	Tractor	1
Falling objects	8	Homicides	186
Falls	73	Total	852
Kicked by horse	1

On 291 of the above cases inquests were held.

Of the total number the following homicides were prosecuted in the courts:—

Accidental shooting	1	Motorcycles	1
Automobiles	133	Poison	1
Burns	2	Railroad (steam)	1
Collapse of building	2	Railway (street)	20
Elevators	1	Teams	1
Falls	1	Total	186
Manslaughter	10
Murder	12

LOST, ABANDONED AND STOLEN PROPERTY.

On December 1, 1924, there were 1,825 articles of lost, stolen or abandoned property in the custody of the property clerk; 1,297 were received during the year; 836 pieces were sold at public auction and the proceeds $1,503.62 were turned over to the chief clerk; 379 packages were destroyed as worthless or sold as junk and the proceeds $106.32 turned over to the chief clerk; and 82 packages were returned to owners, finders, or administrators, leaving 1,825 packages on hand.

POLICE SIGNAL SERVICE.Signal Boxes.

The total number of boxes in use is 510. Of these 343 are connected with the underground system and 167 with the overhead.

Miscellaneous Work.

During the year the employees of this service responded to 1,692 trouble calls; inspected 510 signal boxes, 18 signal desks and 955 batteries; repaired 180 box movements, 54 registers, 81 polar box bells, 60 locks, 33 time stamps, 7 stable motors, 9 stable registers, 7 vibrator bells, 6 relays, 8 pole changers and 5 electric fans, besides repairing all bell and electric light work at headquarters and the various stations. There have been made 37 plungers, 43 complete box fittings, 51 line blocks, 45 automatic hooks, 4 stable boards and a large amount of small work done which cannot be classified.

Two new police signal boxes have been installed at Police Division 17.

The police signal service now has charge of 99 reflector spotlights, which have been installed by the Commissioner for the regulation of traffic, also 2 signal towers.

Most of the prescribed district for 1925 affecting this Department was in South Boston. Cable has been bought but has not been installed as the necessary ducts that were to be laid by the telephone company have not been completed and the work cannot be done until 1926.

New signal desks were fitted and equipped for Stations 2 and 18. Rebuilt and renewed desks have been installed at Stations 10 and 13. Greatly increased use of the automatic answer-back signals has put added strain on register contacts and other working parts and the registers have to be constantly repaired. Measures are being taken to prolong their life until such time as some one can be found to build new and suitable ones.

There are in use in the signal service: 1 White truck, 1 Ford sedan and 1 Ford truck.

During the year the automobile patrol wagons made 52,233 runs, covering an aggregate distance of 73,628 miles. There were 36,692 prisoners conveyed to the station houses, 3,904 runs were made to take injured or insane persons to station houses, hospitals or their homes and 507 runs were made to take lost children to station houses. There were 2,673 runs to fires and 703 runs for liquor seizures. During the year there were 510 signal boxes in use arranged on 72 battery circuits and 70 telephone circuits; 590,316 telephone messages and 3,779,992 "on duty" calls were sent over the lines.

The following list comprises the property in the signal service at the present time:—

18 signal desks.	224,140 feet overhead cable.
72 circuits.	21,220 feet of duct.
510 street signal boxes.	66 manholes.
14 stable call boards.	1 White truck.
78 test boxes.	1 Ford truck.
955 cells of battery.	1 Ford sedan.
622,017 feet underground cable.

HARBOR SERVICE.

The special duties performed by the police of Division 8, comprising the harbor and the islands therein, were as follows:—

Value of property recovered, consisting of boats, rigging, float stages, etc.	$42,615 00
Vessels from foreign ports boarded	865
Vessels ordered from the channel	266
Vessels removed from the channel by police steamers	3
Assistance rendered vessels	68
Assistance rendered wharfingers	8
Permits granted to discharge cargoes from vessels at anchor	7
Obstructions removed from channel	42

Dead bodies recovered	22
Persons rescued from drowning	4
Vessels assigned to anchorage	800
Cases investigated	263
Permits issued to transport and deliver fuel oil in harbor	197
Boats searched for contraband	2,246

The number of vessels that arrived in this port was 7,854, 6,415 being from domestic ports, 568 from the British Provinces and 871 from foreign ports. Of the latter 867 were steamers and 4 were motor vessels.

A patrol service was maintained in Dorchester Bay from June 15 to October 15, 1925.

The launch "E. U. Curtis" cruised nightly from Castle Island to Neponset Bridge. Twenty-nine cases were investigated, 33 boats were challenged for contrabrand, 18 obstructions removed from the channel, assistance rendered to 17 boats in distress by reason of disabled engines, stress of weather, etc., and towing them with the persons aboard to a place of safety, one dead body recovered from the water, 10 arrests made for violation of United States custom laws, 3 motor boats seized with their cargoes of liquor and turned over to United States custom guards.

HORSES.

On the 30th of November, 1924, there were 34 horses in the service. During the year two were purchased, one humanely killed and two delivered to the State Health Department. At the present time there are 33 in the service as shown by Table IX.

VEHICLE SERVICE.

Automobiles.

There are 63 automobiles in the service at the present time; 16 at headquarters; one at the house of detention, used as a woman's van and kept at Division 4; 10 in the city proper and attached to Divisions 1, 2, 3, 4 and 5; four in the South Boston district, attached to Divisions 6 and 12; two in the East Boston district, attached to Division 7; four in the Roxbury district, attached to Divisions 9 and 10; two in the Dorchester district, attached to Division 11; two in the Jamaica Plain district, attached to Division 13; two in the Brighton district, attached to Division 14; two in the Charlestown district, attached to Division 15; three in the Back Bay and Fenway, attached to Division 16; two in the West Roxbury district, attached to Division 17; two in the Hyde Park district, attached to Division 18; two in the Mattapan district, attached to Division 19; two assigned for use of the traffic divisions and seven unassigned. PENSIONS AND BENEFITS.

On December 1, 1924, there were 246 pensioners on the roll. During the year 19 died, viz., 1 superintendent, 1 deputy superintendent, 1 captain, 3 sergeants, 12 patrolmen and 1 annuitant; 1 annuitant was dropped on account of remarriage and 1 was dropped on account of expiration of tenure of annuity. Fifteen were added, viz., 1 inspector, 3 sergeants, 10 patrolmen and the widow of Inspector Benjamin Alexander, who was killed while on duty, leaving 240 on the roll at date, 210 men and 30 women.

The payments on account of pensions during the past year amounted to $196,803.53 and it is estimated that $196,884 will be required for pensions in 1926. This does not include pensions for 4 lieutenants and 23 patrolmen, all of whom are sixty-five years old or more and entitled to be pensioned on account of age and term of service.

The invested fund of the police charitable fund on the thirtieth of November last amounted to $207,550. There are 63 beneficiaries at the present time and there has been paid to them the sum of $7,704.16 during the past year.

FINANCIAL.

The total expenditures for police purposes during the past year, including the pensions, house of detention and listing persons twenty years of age or more, but exclusive of the maintenance of the police signal service, were $4,670,303.43. (See Table XVII.)

The total revenue paid into the city treasury from fees from licenses over which the police have supervision, for the sale of unclaimed and condemned property, uniform cloth, etc., was $69,539.43. (See Table XIV.)

The cost of maintaining the police signal service during the year was $51,920.36. (See Table XVIII.)

REPORT.

HEADQUARTERS OF THE POLICE DEPARTMENT,
OFFICE OF THE POLICE COMMISSIONER, 154 BERKELEY STREET,
BOSTON, December 1, 1926.

To His Excellency ALVAN T. FULLER, Governor.

YOUR EXCELLENCY: — As Police Commissioner for the city of Boston I have the honor to present, in compliance with the provisions of chapter 291 of the Acts of the year 1906, a report of the Police Department for the year ending November 30, 1926.

LIQUOR TRAFFIC AND NARCOTICS.

Enforcement of the prohibitory laws because of the many important legal questions being brought to the attention of the highest federal and state tribunals, both affecting the construction to be given to various parts of these prohibitory acts and the proper method of enforcement by the state and federal authorities, still commands public attention. Increasing difference of opinion of the federal courts as to the construction of certain parts of the Volstead Act and the rigidity of procedure laid upon the enforcing authorities by the state courts, together with the undue publicity given to new ways and means adopted by the violators of the liquor laws to carry on liquor traffic, naturally focuses public attention upon the liquor situation.

Enforcement of the liquor law is still a paramount problem for both federal and state authorities. After the proper methods of enforcement procedure have been settled by the courts, the ensuing problem is the detection and conviction of liquor violators with the infliction of proper punishment for the commission of this type of crime. The punishment meted out to liquor violators should act as a real deterrent. Distinct progress in decreasing liquor traffic in this city cannot be gain-said. The number of arrests for drunkenness may serve as a barometer for those opposed to the principle of the prohibitory laws, but the accurate method to determine whether the law is being enforced is by reference to credible and substantial reports of enforcement agents to superiors as to the quantity and quality of intoxicating liquor to be purchased illegally.

The proper way, therefore, to ascertain whether the liquor laws are being enforced is to ascertain whether this contraband article can easily be obtained. The supply of potable alcohol has been greatly diminished in this city and the price of genuine alcohol is extremely high. The number of places where this product may be obtained in large quantities has been materially reduced. Distillation of the various toxic concoctions from commercial or mercantile alcohol into pseudo or quasi-vendible products advertised as genuine products seems to be the last resort of those plying the contraband liquor trade.

The illegal liquor distilling industry, because its functioning is easily detected, cannot be carried on in crowded cities and is now suburban in character. Death seems not to be a ready deterrent to an irrational desire for intoxicating liquors and, strangely enough, many persons by buying and consuming distilled products wrapped in masquerading labels and covers, are innocently courting this grim figure.

To the praise of this department, every possible device and scheme to import and distribute intoxicating liquors is known or can be easily detected, but the difficulty with the liquor situation is not so much in stopping liquor flowing into the city from legitimate sources of manufacture or supply, but to eliminate that despicable class which has no hesitancy in knowingly selling a rank type of poison.

If the activities of violators who persist in a deliberate, calculating manner to evade the liquor laws are not properly checked upon conviction with jail or prison sentences, the police in their prosecution of liquor violators are only making gestures. As an indication of the activities of this department in these prosecutions, 38,882 persons were arrested for drunkenness in this city, 37,376 males and 1,506 females, from December 1, 1925, to November 30, 1926, and during the same period, 4,609 liquor searches on warrants were made.

Owners of property, more solicitous for income from real estate than for respectable tenants, are actual participants in sordid conditions created by tenants violating liquor laws. Responsibility for such conditions rests squarely upon their shoulders as taxpayers of this city. If indifference and cupidity control the action of property owners, it would seem strange if, in time, the same atmosphere did not permeate the ranks of the Police Department.

In certain sections of this city the police are cognizant that liquor is being sold illegally and secretly. Persons engaged in this contraband business are naturally watching the police so that their activities may not be disturbed. By stratagem the police often either obtain a sale or seize intoxicating liquor in a building. Parties occupying the premises are brought into court and fined, with a warning that conviction of the same offense (not conviction of another offense against the liquor laws) may result in imprisonment. Under such a hazard, liquor traffickers are careful that when the next raid is made, some other lessee or occupant of the building is apprehended. The fact that the substitute lessee or occupant is an agent of the former lessee or occupant is generally known to the owner of the building and, despite a similar suspicion by the courts, yet, because of the lack of necessary legal proof, such agent being treated as a principal and as a first offender escapes the real punishment due him.

Owners of real estate, with their minds on overhead charges, thus seem to be willing to accept as new tenants, well-known liquor traffickers. Leases under the law may be voided where lessees or occupants engage in unlawful business upon the premises. Where landlords refuse to take notice, even after police advice concerning the nature of the business carried on by their tenants, and tenant after tenant of the same building is convicted of some one or other of the various infringements of the liquor laws, it would seem logical that the police should not be compelled to resort to the archaic method of securing an interminable number of search warrants and find itself moving around in a circle, accomplishing nothing, to the amusement of this type of lawbreakers, but should have the same authority to eradicate from suspected buildings "rum" joints by methods similar to those now authorized by statute in eliminating houses of prostitution. I am again proposing legislation to this effect whereby buildings may be declared by the courts to be nuisances and enjoined as such. Equity proceedings of this nature would produce as effective results as the application of the so-called "padlock law" by the federal equity courts.

The problem of the suppression of the use of narcotic drugs is not local but international in scope. With federal and state laws enacted to regulate the handling, manufacture, transportation, storing, prescribing and use of narcotics, the police problem in relation to narcotic drugs is reduced to that of prevention of smuggling of narcotics and the arrest of both illegal distributors and addicts.

The principal narcotics used by addicts are opium, morphine, heroin and cocaine. The arrest of the drug addict in many cases is both humanitarian and economic, inasmuch as, upon reliable information, cocaine addicts being subject to violent hallucinations approaching a state of insanity are dangerous, and often adopt violent methods both in the commission of crime or when about to be placed under arrest.

Detection and apprehension of those engaged in narcotic drug distribution or consumption require extreme patience and ingenuity, inasmuch as narcotic peddlers or users, knowing that they are under the surveillance of the police, attempt to conceal their movements and methods. The police are handicapped by the fact also that many drug distributors are not drug addicts. Distribution of narcotic drugs in this city has been reduced to a favorable minimum, obtained because of the intelligent and conscientious work of the police in general and those especially assigned to narcotic drug work.

FIREARMS.

The use and display of firearms having become an important factor in the commission of serious crimes and having developed into a typically American practice, constant watch and careful supervision of the various sources of the sale and distribution of dangerous weapons is imperative. Possession and use of firearms, guns and other dangerous implements in many instances being necessary, imperative and lawful, and inasmuch as it is axiomatic that "every man's home is his castle," it is obvious that the proper means of safeguarding the homes of citizens should always be available. On the other hand, however, indiscriminate permission and promiscuous license to carry on the person or in vehicles dangerous weapons should be carefully avoided because of the apparent possibility of danger of great abuses arising therefrom. The ability to obtain easily firearms and dangerous weapons by certain classes has resulted in the practice by undesirables of using dangerous weapons either to protect or pursue illegal businesses from rum-running to hold-ups. Pursuit of sport to encourage the use of firearms, pistols and other similar weapons on one hand is laudable and should be encouraged, but the right of citizens to safety and security should not be abrogated, diminished or endangered in order that a minority may be amused. If the rights and privileges of gun clubs and other sporting organizations are restricted through a general tightening of the laws relating to the possession or purchase of firearms, it may be unfortunate for the devotees of this particular pastime, but the rights of individuals must always be suspended or limited for the rights and safety of the majority. Promiscuous and indiscriminate sale of firearms, whether at wholesale or retail, should be strictly regulated. The legislature of Massachusetts last year, by constructive and effective legislation, aided governmental agencies endeavoring to limit and control the distribution of dangerous weapons, and remedial legislation enacted relative to the sale and purchase of firearms affords notable check to the police upon the indiscriminate sale of such merchandise.

Federal legislation is required, however, in the matter of firearms in transit by mail in interstate commerce and the importation of firearms from foreign countries. Naturally, considerable opposition to federal legislation upon this subject has developed. At the present time, several bills relative to firearms in interstate trade are in Congress in various stages of progress. Last year a conference was held in New York City at which police officials of the various eastern states gathered for the purpose of emphasizing and impressing upon Congress the necessity of immediate legislation upon the subject of the forbiddance of transit of firearms by mail and the importance of such legislation has been emphasized in many of the leading newspapers and periodicals of this country.

Several reputable mail-order houses, realizing the inevitable consequences of such unlimited and unchecked distribution of firearms by mail, have wisely discontinued the mails as a medium for the delivery of such articles. Unfortunately, other concerns engaged in selling firearms generally of foreign make, almost unexceptionally inferior in grade and cheap in price, have not the same perspective or viewpoint on this subject, with the result that firearms may be obtained through the mail by irresponsible and often abnormal persons from such dealers with places of manufacture or business outside this Commonwealth. The eastern states have taken the initiative in this matter and are endeavoring, in the absence of federal legislation, to promote state legislation along these lines by campaigns of education in states which have not taken steps in legislative progress upon this subject. When impediments are placed in the way of a purchaser who, because of criminality, abnormality or juvenility is unfit to carry a firearm, serious crimes may be in many cases averted. In my opinion, legislation should be passed to correct a serious defect in the present law which allows ammunition to be sold to minors over the age of fifteen years. Under the present law of this state, a minor cannot obtain a permit to carry a firearm except an employee of a bank or a public utility corporation. The privilege accorded to this class of minors is granted because of the control which this stated type of employer naturally exercises over the person selected to be licensed to carry firearms, and because the licensee, although a minor, is a person who has been considered by responsible authorities to be a person fit to carry deadly weapons. I believe the law should be further changed so that no minor should be allowed to buy ammunition for firearms unless he also has a license to carry a firearm.

The solution of many desperate crimes by the police, while ordinarily difficult, is in many cases made more laborious and mystifying by the fact that the trail of the perpetrator, often wounded or injured in the commission of the crime, is frequently covered by medical assistance to the criminal rendered by physicians who either through indifference or design fail to notify the police of such aid. This statement is not an indictment of the medical profession, but inasmuch as every profession, trade or business has members not actuated by proper ethical motives, it is the unfortunate experience of the police to find that the medical profession is not free from shady practitioners. Legislation requiring physicians or persons controlling sanatoriums to report to the local police when aid has been rendered for wounds or burns caused by guns or firearms, in my opinion would aid the police in more rapidly detecting criminals. The legislature of New York last year passed similar legislation, and I believe that the reputable medical practitioners or medical societies of this Commonwealth will not oppose legislation of this type, while the passage of such legislation will coercively control members of the medical profession whose type of practice is more or less under police surveillance.

In order to impress more deeply upon the understanding of those individuals who perpetrate crime, and to give the citizens of this state the satisfaction of knowing that their interests are paramount to those of criminals, I believe in the passage in this state of legislation similar to that which was passed in New York relative to the graduated scale of punishment of persons arrested in the commission of a felony while armed with a pistol or other dangerous weapon. According to reputable authorities, the passage of this legislation in New York demonstrated in a very short time that terror had been stricken into the hearts of criminals whose chief purpose was persistence in the practice of terrorizing peaceful citizens of the community.

TRAFFIC.

An efficient police department primarily prevents crime or, after crime has been committed, detects and apprehends the criminal offenders. Efficient management of private business corporations provides for future growth. Police departments necessarily must progress and coordinate with advancements in business. A traffic problem did not exist in Boston twenty years ago. Today, proper and efficient control of vehicular and pedestrian traffic, not only because of advancement in business activities and the necessity of safeguarding the public, but because of the increasing number of police officers needed for traffic work, is an outstanding problem with which all municipal authorities are confronted.

The importance or magnitude of a traffic problem is rarely realized by the general public. Direction of traffic either by manual effort, beacons, lights, or synchronizing systems, presents one aspect of this problem. On the other hand, rational enforcement of the various traffic laws, rules or regulations cannot be accomplished by mechanical devices but requires personal service. Pertinent to the traffic problem, which in the last analysis means the orderly flow of both vehicular and pedestrian traffic, the necessity of eliminating illegal and unnecessary parking of vehicles is apparent. Unrestrained and uncontrolled parking of vehicles not only detrimentally affects the growth and development of business, but also seriously interferes with the operation of various governmental agencies engaged in the protection or safeguarding of both private and municipal property. Vehicular parking for an unlimited time on a thoroughfare which should be devoted to the passage of commercial vehicles is about as logical as dumping a cartload of paving blocks upon the same spot and forgetting to remove it.

Strict enforcement of traffic laws cannot be neglected inasmuch as orderly control of traffic spells prevention of accidents, the latter causing traffic tangles and consequent delays, and also unnecessarily requiring the service of police officers who are thus temporarily diverted from more important police duties.

During the past year, 2,235 vehicles were licensed as hackney carriages with 4,031 licensed drivers. As most of these vehicles are operated where traffic is densest, their control and supervision, not taking into consideration the additional work in the investigation of applications for licenses of hackney carriage drivers and the careful allocation and licensing of the various special stands for hackney vehicles, requires the constant supervision of a separate unit.

Automobiles temporarily appropriated for selfish reasons and subsequently abandoned, often in a damaged condition, in places obstructing traffic, place an additional burden upon the police. Records of this department show during the past year that approximately 3,700 automobiles were found abandoned in the streets of this city by the police.

Increase in school population and school buildings necessarily requires more police officers to protect school children at crossings. This obligation, with similar protection to the aged and infirm, is justly demanded from the police by the tax payers of this city. Boston, unlike some other cities, has not the advantage of laws against "jay walking." With the continual increase in the number of automobiles, pedestrian control by the police has become more arduous inasmuch as density of vehicular traffic produces greater density of pedestrian traffic as the more populous sections of this city are built around or in the vicinity of main arteries of travel.

Mechanical control of traffic is replacing to a great extent manual traffic direction. Education of the public to obedience to the operation of mechanical traffic signals, as expected, has been successful. In the working out of the traffic problem, knowledge of the various lighting systems in other cities of this country is valuable. The installation in this city of a system of synchronized lights directed under the progressive system, as an economic measure, cannot be delayed. The cost of installing a system of electrical traffic control under the present law requiring that the wires operating such a system shall be laid underground, would seem to be prohibitive. A possible solution of this problem could be effected if a system of electric traffic control were linked to the present plant of a public utility corporation operating with fixed conduits for wires.

During the past year twenty-four spot lights were installed, making a total of one hundred and twenty-three spot lights set up by this department for the protection of traffic officers. Experimental work also relative to the adoption of flood lights to eliminate the glare of the present spot lights has been carried on.

The two traffic divisions of this department were increased by the addition of eighty men from the additional 300 added to the department during the past year. At the present time, 47 men are assigned to enforcing the parking laws and other officers will be placed in the traffic divisions in the near future. The present personnel of these two divisions is 2 captains, 2 lieutenants, 12 sergeants and 254 patrolmen. Continuous traffic service has been inaugurated.

I desire again to publicly thank Gifford LeCler, Esq., chairman of Committee on Street Traffic and Municipal and Metropolitan Affairs of the Boston Chamber of Commerce, and Ellerton J. Brehaut, Esq., assistant secretary of the Boston Chamber of Commerce, for the valuable advice given me in the study of the traffic problems of this city and for their efficient service in the installation of beacons and lighting systems for the expedition of pedestrian and vehicular traffic.

SALE BY THE POLICE OF UNCLAIMED OR ABANDONED PROPERTY.

Yearly increase in the number of automobiles registered in this state, a large percentage of which has been fairly estimated to enter Boston at some period of the license year, not only increases police work because of the necessity of directing the same, but also increases the possibility of cars either being stolen deliberately for resale or misappropriated for temporary use and enjoyment. The number of cars abandoned on the streets of this city is increasing yearly. Many of these cars, because reported to the police as lost or stolen, can be promptly and readily restored to owners, but inasmuch as owners of cars so taken sometimes do not live in this city, temporary storage must be arranged by the police until the owner arrives after receiving notice to repossess.

Automobiles necessarily cannot be left out-of-doors in inclement weather and therefore many cars found abandoned must be stored in public garages. It is found that many abandoned cars are damaged in the illegal operation of the same, and the owners, incensed justifiably, sometimes refuse for this reason to repossess the cars from the garage in which they are stored in good faith by the police. Storage space must be paid for and the city of Boston should not be obliged to pay for the storage of cars when the owner is known and has been notified where his property may be located. Demands by the police to owners to repossess their property often have been met with refusal and as the law now stands, the owner of a stolen or abandoned car, placed in a garage by the police, may enjoy free storage for an entire winter season by refusing to repossess the same, with the city obligated for the payment of the storage.

The owner of an automobile which has been stolen or used unlawfully and found abandoned by the police, who refuses to repossess his property after receiving written notice of its location by the police, should, in all fairness, after at least six months from the time of receiving notice, lose the right to repossess the same, and the police department should have the authority and right to sell these cars in order to release the lien of the garage owner for the fair charge for storage thereon.

At the present time there is no space available in this department for the storage of a large number of cars and the increasing number of abandoned and lost cars necessarily, therefore, must be stored in private garages or warehouses.

CELEBRITY IN DISPATCHING POLICE INFORMATION.

Rapidity of interchange of important police information between police departments of this state is essential. Inasmuch as the means of rapid exchange is available either by telephone, telegraph or special communicating systems, a system operated from a central distributing station either at the State House or at Police Headquarters, Boston, should be installed. A similar recommendation was made by me in my last three annual reports.

Important communications can be sent to the various units of this department in an exceptionally short time, but confining the rapid diffusion of police news to the confines of this city, in view of the present use of automobiles by criminals in the commission of crimes, is futile. Crime is seldom discovered upon its execution and delay in the disclosure of commission of serious crime permits many criminals using automobiles to be removed far from the scene of the crime soon after commission.

A central communicating system with antenna stretching to the boundaries of this state and with branches to the important cities and towns, should replace the present clumsy and cumbersome method of relaying important criminal information to adjacent or distant police departments. Police methods and systems should progress steadily and methods employed in the apprehension of criminals should be in advance of those used by criminals today in committing crime.

ASSAULTS ON POLICE OFFICERS.

The underlying principle of stable government is respect by its citizens for constituted law and authority. While individual freedom with its accompanying prerogatives of free speech and independence of action, guaranteed by the Constitution, must be carefully guarded in order that democratic government may exist, yet unlimited and unbridled license for personal activities produces disorder and chaos.

In Great Britain the police on duty without firearms represent the Sovereign and malicious attacks upon police officers carry rapid and severe punishment. In this country, unfortunately, respect for authority does not always obtain. Delay of trial and sympathy for the criminal with outspoken disrespect, antipathy and contempt for the police often produce judicial travesties.

The police are human and therefore err, but without the protecting screen of a police department, anarchy ensues. Unlimited excoriation and abuse of police departments by intelligent persons because of weaknesses or abuses of individual members tend to break down the fabric of the system and offer to the criminal and undesirable, favorable manna for their mental nourishment.

Our Honor Roll for the year consists of one officer murdered in cold blood by youthful desperadoes, and three police officers murderously assaulted by criminals armed with firearms.

As a tribute to the memory of members of this Department who heroically died in the performance of their duties, annually, on Memorial Day, bronze markers appropriately inscribed have been placed upon their graves. These markers stand as mute evidence of the bravery and valor of men unnecessarily sacrificed that the lives and property of the citizens of Boston might be protected.

PLANT.

During the past year steam heating systems were installed in the station houses of Divisions 14 and 17, and the heating apparatus of all other station houses thoroughly overhauled, cleaned and made ready for service.

Work in cleaning and painting was done in Stations 12 and 7 and a new system of lighting was installed in the latter building.

The usual repairs were made on the harbor boats Guardian, E. U. Curtis, and Argus. The steamer Watchman, thoroughly rebuilt, is now in condition for a twenty-four-hour day service for a number of years.

Two new motor prison vans and a patrol wagon to serve as replacements were purchased and placed in commission.

Eight additional police ambulances were requested by me from the Mayor, through the Board of Municipal Emergencies. I have made provision in the Department estimates for 1927 for these additional ambulances and I hope, if they are allowed, to put them into commission during the coming year.

A traffic booth with a synchronized system of lights was installed at the junction of Massachusetts Avenue and Commonwealth Avenue.

The present antiquated and unsanitary station houses of Divisions 3, 4 and 5 should be replaced by modern structures.

The Mayor has been requested by me to allow Division 14 and Division 11, respectively, to occupy the premises now used for court purposes in the Brighton and Dorchester districts after these courts are installed in their new buildings in said districts. This additional space is urgently needed inasmuch as the number of officers assigned to these two divisions has been materially increased.

I have also discussed with the Mayor the necessity of a large central garage where both the cars of this Department and cars found abandoned by the police may be stored and thus eliminate the unnecessary large expenditure for storage in private and public garages and storehouses.

The new police headquarters building situated at Berkeley and Stuart streets was dedicated on November 22, 1926. This building is seven stories in height above the street with basement and sub-basement. The exterior is treated in Italian Renaissance style with limestone on the Berkeley and Stuart street façades and a light-colored brick on Stanhope Street and the Court. The interior with regard to rooms, corridors, and stair towers is of modern office building design with sanitary floors and fireproof construction throughout. The building is heated by return tubular boilers supplied by oil for fuel. The main façade is on Berkeley Street set back from the lot line about twenty feet. The Stuart Street façade is on the property line at the sidewalk and adjoins the present building of the Edison Electric Illuminating Company. The cornerstone of the building was laid August 25, 1925, with appropriate ceremonies.

Very respectfully,

HERBERT A. WILSON,

Police Commissioner for the City of Boston.

THE DEPARTMENT.

The police department is at present constituted as follows:—

WORK OF THE DEPARTMENT.

Arrests.

The total number of arrests, counting each arrest as that of a separate person, was 84,273 as against 83,145 the preceding year, being an increase of 1,128. The percentage of decrease and increase was as follows:—

	Per Cent.
Offences against the person	Decrease 3.89
Offences against property committed with violence	Decrease 4.00
Offences against property committed without violence	Decrease 3.23
Malicious offences against property	Decrease 16.56
Forgery and offences against the currency	Decrease 30.85
Offences against the license laws	Decrease 16.54
Offences against chastity, morality, etc.	Decrease 5.58
Offences not included in the foregoing	Increase 3.75

There were 12,502 persons arrested on warrants and 51,707 without warrants; 20,064 persons were summoned by the courts; 80,868 persons were held for trial; 3,405 were released from custody. The number of males arrested was 78,849; of females, 5,424; of foreigners, 26,662, or approximately 31.63 per cent; of minors, 8,464. Of the total number arrested, 21,569, or 25.59 per cent, were nonresidents. (See Tables X, XI.)

The average amount of fines imposed by the courts for the five years from 1922 to 1926, inclusive, was $312,344.66; in 1926 it was $391,169.50; or $78,824 more than the average.

The average number of days' attendance at court was 47,691; in 1926 it was 50,674, or 2,983 more than the average.

The average amount of witness fees earned was $15,277.55; in 1926 it was $14,593.60, or $683.95 less than the average. (See Table XIII.)

Drunkenness.

In the arrests for drunkenness the average per day was 106. There were 938 more persons arrested than in 1925, an increase of 2.47 per cent; 23.40 per cent of the arrested persons were nonresidents and 38.40 per cent were of foreign birth. (See Table XI.)

The nativity of the prisoners was as follows:—

United States	57,611	East Indies	4
British Provinces	4,063	West Indies	86
Ireland	8,647	Turkey	50
England	674	South America	61
France	108	Switzerland	9

Austria	152	India	1
Portugal	344	Egypt	1
Finland	159	Albania	7
Denmark	88	Cuba	1
Holland	24
Wales	4	Total	84,273

The number of arrests for the year was 84,273, being an increase of 1,128 over last year, and 3,129 more than the average for the past five years. There were 38,882 persons arrested for drunkenness, being 938 more than last year, and 284 more than the average for the past five years. Of the arrests for drunkenness this year, there was an increase of 2.91 per cent in males and a decrease of 7.49 per cent in females from last year. (See Tables XI, XIII.)

Of the total number of arrests for the year (84,273), 475 were for violation of the city ordinances; that is to say that one arrest in 177 was for such offence, or .56 per cent.

Sixty and twenty-nine hundredths per cent of the persons taken into custody were between the ages of twenty and forty. (See Table XI.)

The number of persons punished by fines was 27,281, and the fines amounted to $391,169.50. (See Table XIII.)

One hundred twenty-nine persons were committed to the State Prison, 2,807 to the House of Correction, 36 to the Women's Prison, 88 to the Reformatory prison, and 1,620 to other institutions. The total years of imprisonment were 1 life, 2,282 years, 10 months (320 sentences indefinite); the total number of days' attendance at court by officers was 50,674, and the witness fees earned by them amounted to $14,593.60.

The value of the property taken from prisoners and lodgers was $271,247.90.

Eight witnesses were detained at station houses, 186 were accommodated with lodgings, a decrease of 27 over last year. There was a decrease of 10.62 per cent in the number of sick and injured persons assisted, and an increase of about 14.46 per cent in the number of lost children cared for.

The average amount of property stolen in and about the city for the five years from 1922 to 1926, inclusive, was $1,967,475.64, in 1926 it was $1,803,519.18, or $163,956.46 less than the average. The amount of property stolen in and out of the city, which was recovered by the Boston police, was $2,214,100.62 as against $2,804,798.15 last year, or $590,697.53 less.

BUREAU OF CRIMINAL INVESTIGATION.

The "identification room" now contains 67,085 photographs, 55,706 of which are photographs with Bertillon measurements, a system used by the Department since November 30, 1898. In accordance with the Revised Laws, chapter 225, section 18, and with the General Laws, chapter 127, sections 27 to 29, both inclusive, we are allowed photographs with Bertillon measurements taken of the convicts in the State Prison and Reformatory, a number of which have been added to our Bertillon cabinets. This, together with the adoption of the system by the Department in 1898, is and will continue to be of great assistance in the identification of criminals. A large number of important identifications have thus been made during the year for this and other police departments, through which the sentences in many instances have been materially increased. The records of 943 criminals have been added to the records of this Bureau, which now contains a total of 47,051. The number of cases reported at this office which have been investigated during the year is 40,111. There are 43,256 cases reported on the assignment books kept for this purpose, and reports made on these cases are filed away for future reference. The system of indexing adopted by this Bureau for the use of the Department now contains a list of records, histories, photographs, dates of arrests, etc., of about 212,000 persons. There are also "histories and press clippings" now numbering 9,330 made by this Bureau, in envelope form, for police reference.

The finger-print system of identification which was adopted in June, 1906, has progressed in a satisfactory manner, and with it the identification of criminals is facilitated. It has become very useful in tracing criminals and furnishing corroborating evidence in many instances.

The statistics of the work of this branch of the service are included in the statement of the general work of the Department, but as the duties are of a special character, the following statement will be of interest:—

Number of persons arrested, principally for felonies	2,723
Fugitives from justice from other States, arrested and delivered to officers from those States	41
Number of cases investigated	40,111
Number of extra duties performed	2,228
Number of cases of homicide and supposed homicide investigated and evidence prepared for trial in court	204
Number of cases of abortion and supposed abortion investigated and evidence prepared for court	17
Number of days spent in court by police officers	2,496

Number of years' imprisonment imposed by court 195 years, 11 months
 Amount of stolen property recovered . . . $503,885.62
 Number of photographs added to identification room . . . 1,078

POLICE SIGNAL SERVICE.Signal Boxes.

The total number of boxes in use is 515. Of these 345 are connected with the underground system and 170 with the overhead.

Miscellaneous Work.

During the year the employees of this service responded to 1,848 trouble calls; inspected 515 signal boxes, 18 signal desks and 955 batteries; repaired 193 box movements, 68 registers, 90 polar box bells, 65 locks, 65 time stamps, 10 stable motors, 8 stable registers, 14 vibrator bells, 9 relays, 11 pole changers and 9 electric fans, besides repairing all bell and electric light work at headquarters and the various stations. There have been made 45 plungers, 53 complete box fittings, 51 line blocks, 55 automatic hooks, 3 stable boards and a large amount of small work done which cannot be classified. One new signal box was installed on Division 13 and two on Division 17.

The police signal service now has charge of 123 reflector spotlights, which have been installed by the Commissioner for the regulation of traffic, also 3 signal towers.

Most of the prescribed district for 1925 and 1926 affecting this Department was in South Boston. Cable has been bought but has not been installed. Box outlets and pole connections were laid in the summer of 1926, but on account of the underground and other trouble, both this Department and the Fire Department have not been able to "pull in" cable together. This work should be done later this season or early next spring.

Greatly increased use of the automatic answer-back signals has put added strain on register contacts and other working parts and the registers have to be constantly repaired. Measures are being taken to prolong their life until such time as some one can be found to build new and suitable ones. The signal desk at Division 4 has been rebuilt and refitted.

There are in use in the signal service: 1 White truck, 1 Ford sedan and 1 Ford truck.

During the year the automobile patrol wagons made 53,432 runs, covering an aggregate distance of 98,431 miles. There were 36,661 prisoners conveyed to the station houses, 3,705 runs were made to take injured or insane persons to station houses, hospitals or their homes and 379 runs were made to take lost children to station houses. There were 2,869 runs to fires and 698 runs for liquor seizures. During the year there were 515 signal boxes in use arranged on 72 battery circuits and 72 telephone circuits; 609,328 telephone messages and 4,426,607 "on duty" calls were sent over the lines.

The following list comprises the property in the signal service at the present time: —

18 signal desks.	224,140 feet overhead cable.
72 circuits.	21,220 feet of duct.
515 street signal boxes.	66 manholes.
14 stable call boards.	1 White truck.
78 test boxes.	1 Ford truck.
955 cells of battery.	1 Ford sedan.
622,017 feet underground cable.

HARBOR SERVICE.

The special duties performed by the police of Division 8, comprising the harbor and the islands therein, were as follows: —

Value of property recovered, consisting of boats, rigging, float stages, etc.	$43,194 90
Vessels from foreign ports boarded	721
Vessels ordered from the channel	339
Vessels removed from the channel by police steamers	3

Dead bodies recovered	18
Person rescued from drowning	1
Vessels assigned to anchorage	750
Cases investigated	318
Permits issued to transport and deliver fuel oil in harbor	392
Boats searched for contraband	1,070

The number of vessels that arrived in this port was 7,888, 6,321 of which were from domestic ports, 596 from the British Provinces in Canada, and 971 from foreign ports. Of the latter 711 were steamers, 9 were motor vessels and 1 schooner.

A patrol service was maintained in Dorchester Bay from June 15 to October 18, 1926.

The launch E. U. Curtis cruised nightly from Castle Island to Neponset Bridge. Twenty-six cases were investigated, 8 boats were challenged for contraband, 1 obstruction removed from the channel, assistance rendered to 12 boats in distress by reason of disabled engines, stress of weather, etc., and towing them with the persons aboard to a place of safety, 1 dead body recovered from the water, 6 arrests for larceny and 3 yachts ordered from the channel.

Ambulances.

The Department is equipped with an ambulance at Division 1 and combination automobiles (patrol and ambulance) in Divisions 1, 2, 3, 4, 5, 6, 7, 9, 10, 11, 12, 13, 14, 15, 16, 17, 18 and 19, and there are five unassigned.

During the year ambulances responded to calls to convey sick and injured persons to the following places:—

City Hospital	2,447
City Hospital (Relief Station, Haymarket Square)	1,244
City Hospital (Relief Station, East Boston District)	166

RAILROAD POLICE.

There were 20 persons appointed railroad policemen during the year, 18 of whom were employees of the Boston & Maine Railroad and 2 of the New York, New Haven and Hartford Railroad.

CONDUCTORS, MOTORMEN AND STARTERS OF STREET RAILWAY COMPANIES.

During the year licenses of conductors, motormen and starters of the street railway companies hereinafter listed, were cancelled for various causes.

The Boston Elevated Railway Company, with the approval of the Police Commissioner, inaugurated a system to have many of its employees already licensed both as "Conductors" and "Motormen" transferred to licenses as "Conductor-Motorman."

The purpose of the Elevated Railway Company in doing this was that they could issue an operator's badge, so called, to each "Conductor-Motorman," who would then bear on his uniform but one badge and number instead of two as heretofore.

An additional purpose was that such "Conductor-Motorman" would be available for the operation of a one-man car, or on either end of a two-man car.

MISCELLANEOUS LICENSES.

The total number of applications for miscellaneous licenses received was 26,616. Of these 26,197 were granted, of which 152 were canceled for nonpayment, leaving 26,045. During the year 244 licenses were transferred, 261 canceled, 9 revoked, and 419 applications were rejected. The officers investigated 479 complaints arising under these licenses. The fees collected and paid into the city treasury amounted to $64,265.05. There was also $65.01 received by the city collector from the Law Department on account of damage to police property which was credited to the Police Department. (See Tables XIV and XVII.)

MUSICIANS' LICENSES.

Itinerant.

During the year there were 54 applications for itinerant musicians' licenses received, 11 of which were disapproved. Two licenses were subsequently canceled on account of nonpayment of license fee.

All the instruments in use by itinerant musicians are inspected before the license is granted, and it is arranged by a qualified musician, not a member of the department, that such instruments shall be inspected in April and September of each year.

During the year 62 instruments were inspected with the following results: —

PENSIONS AND BENEFITS.

On December 1, 1925, there were 240 pensioners on the roll. During the year 20 died, viz., 1 deputy superintendent, 1 director of signal service, 1 lieutenant, 2 sergeants, 13 patrolmen, 1 fireman and 1 annuitant. Twenty-seven were added, viz., 1 chief inspector, 1 inspector, 6 lieutenants, 2 sergeants, 16 patrolmen and the widow of Patrolman Frank J. Comeau, who was killed while on duty; leaving 247 on the roll at date, 217 men and 30 women.

The payments on account of pensions during the past year amounted to $196,341.03, and it is estimated that $208,245.66 will be required for pensions in 1927. This does not include pensions for 2 inspectors, 1 lieutenant, 1 sergeant, 30 patrolmen and 3 civilian employees, all of whom are 65 years old or more and are entitled to be pensioned on account of age and term of service.

The invested fund of the police charitable fund on the thirtieth of November last amounted to $207,550. There are 65 beneficiaries at the present time and there has been paid to them the sum of $8,229.67 during the past year.

FINANCIAL.

The total expenditures for police purposes during the past year, including pensions and listing persons twenty years of age or more, but exclusive of the maintenance of the police signal service, were $5,000,729.29. (See Table XVII.)

The cost of maintaining the police signal service during the year was $58,230.54. (See Table XVIII.)

The total revenue paid into the city treasury from fees for licenses over which the police have supervision, for the sale of unclaimed and condemned property, uniform cloth, etc., was $70,383.59. There was turned into the City Collector's office by the city law department and credited to the police department, the sum of $65.01 on account of damage to police property. (See Table XIV.)

REPORT.

HEADQUARTERS OF THE POLICE DEPARTMENT,
OFFICE OF THE POLICE COMMISSIONER, 154 BERKELEY STREET,
BOSTON, December 1, 1927.

To His Excellency ALVAN T. FULLER, Governor.

YOUR EXCELLENCY:—As Police Commissioner for the city of Boston I have the honor to present, in compliance with the provisions of chapter 291 of the Acts of the year 1906, a report of the Police Department for the year ending November 30, 1927.

DISPATCH OF POLICE NEWS.

Since my incumbency in office as Police Commissioner, I have repeatedly urged in annual reports the installation of a state-wide agency for instantaneously and accurately transmitting important information to the police units of the surrounding cities and towns of the metropolitan area.

The present method of transmitting information from the police headquarters in Boston to police departments of outside cities and towns by telephonic service is not only archaic but ineffective, because of the length of time necessarily expended in transferring this information and the evident possibility of mistakes and errors in the reception of important information transmitted.

Large appropriations are made yearly for the building and repair of highways in order that the commercial development of the various sections of this state may be advanced by a close and rapid intercommunication. It is therefore a logical conclusion that the cost of installing a new and rapid system of long distance conveyance of important information to police departments should not weigh seriously against its installation, especially when the proper protection and safeguarding of the lives and property of the citizens of this Commonwealth demand it because of the rapid methods and means now employed by criminals in the commission of crime.

Clumsy and cumbersome methods of transmitting news should not be tolerated when modern, effective and expeditious means exist. The installation of the teletype system has been considered with the officials of the New England Telephone and Telegraph Company, and as a result of conferences and demonstrations, contracts will be executed for the installation of the Morkrum Teletype, a modern, scientific device for the transmission of news, and operating under the Bell system. Work will be immediately commenced to install this news printing machine, operating from Police Headquarters to the various police divisions in Boston, whereby important information upon being typed upon a central distributing machine will be instantaneously reproduced upon a receiving machine in all the police precincts. Instantaneous, permanent, written records will be made of information thus translated, eliminating the necessity of a delayed telephonic grouping of all divisions heretofore employed when important news had to be immediately transmitted.

The installation of this mechanical device in Boston, I trust, will be the beginning of its adoption by at least all the cities and towns in the metropolitan area. Interest in the installation of this project has been awakened and will in time undoubtedly result in a hook-up of Boston with all cities and large towns of this Commonwealth, inasmuch as the cost of tying-in other cities and towns with Boston is not prohibitive. Public agencies must imitate public utility corporations in adopting latest scientific inventions so that the best service may be rendered to the public. This method of disseminating news has already been installed in many large newspaper offices of this country, and its use has been universally approved.

PICKPOCKETS.

The larger cities and towns of this Commonwealth are affected by the criminal operations of a commercialized class of vagabonds known as pickpockets, resulting in large financial toll from innocent citizens.

Well known pickpockets apprehended while acting in a suspicious manner, when brought into court, take advantage of the construction given by some courts to the present vagabond law (section 68 of chapter 272 of the General Laws), and because of the failure of the prosecuting officer to prove a certain preliminary requisite interpolated into the law, are released to mingle again in crowds with larcenous intent. Bold and seemingly fearless, many of these rogues are allowed to roam unmolested, seeking their prey, because the police know that it is useless to arrest them as vagabonds.

According to section 68, a person known to be a pickpocket, thief or burglar, if acting in a suspicious manner around a steamboat landing, railroad depot — place of amusement, etc., shall be deemed to be a vagabond. The police after arresting a pickpocket under such circumstances, must prove in some courts that he is a well known thief, that he was acting suspiciously, and that he has a recent conviction for that offence.

Criminals of this type, in a craft thoroughly organized and commercialized, if convicted are extremely anxious that final convictions be not obtained against them and desire that these be placed on file or the sentences imposed be suspended, or to receive themselves the enshrouding protection of probation, the application of which to this type of convicted criminal is both futile and ineffective. A recital of the unsuccessful efforts of officers of this department to convict these modern marauders after trailing them for extensive periods of time through numerous crowds and gatherings would be extremely interesting and illuminating to the general public.

In courts where this preliminary requisite of proof of a recent conviction has not been interpolated into the law summary justice can be dealt to this type of miscreant. This loophole in the law, however, can be remedied by the enactment of legislation submitted by me this year to the Legislature similar to the provision of law now in the penal code of the State of New York known as the "jostling law." Unfortunately, however, the provision of the New York law, which gives final jurisdiction to the lower court magistrate, cannot be enacted into the laws of this Commonwealth, inasmuch as such a provision of law would violate the provisions of the State constitution.

PROHIBITION.

Prohibition is of such paramount interest to the public, that a summary of police activities in enforcing the prohibitory laws has become a necessity in the annual reports of police departments. During the past year, the police of this city searched upon warrants 4,714 buildings, arrested 3,904 persons either for the illegal sale, keeping and exposing or transportation of liquor, and arrested 38,794 persons for the crime of drunkenness induced by the voluntary use of intoxicating liquor.

The public naturally is interested in arrests made for violation of the liquor laws, but unfortunately seldom realizes the enormous expenditure of time required of the police in the subsequent prosecution of these liquor violations. An increasing number of police officers is being assigned to this particular work, which means necessarily the withdrawal of police officers from other types of police work necessary for the protection of the citizens of this city from serious crime. This department has rendered efficient service in the enforcement of the State liquor law and would have an added incentive in this work if more tangible results could be observed from its efforts. From the total number of liquor violators exclusive of those convicted of drunkenness, handled by the department this year, only one hundred twenty-seven convicted persons were sent to jail. County treasuries, by the imposition of fines in liquor cases are necessarily inflated and the criminal business of the various courts appears well from a monetary standpoint; but the continued imposition of fines, suspended sentences and probation to deliberate wrong-doers necessarily lengthens the business lives of this type of malefactor and gives the lawbreaker the idea that perhaps not even the courts themselves are seriously disposed in the work of eliminating illegal vendors. Today, liquor is being sold in establishments where the real owner of the liquor never appears on the premises, but has his business conducted for him by a dummy. When this dummy is arrested and convicted of violation of the liquor law, another dummy will be used. The public today are educated to the fact that intoxicating liquor that can be bought illegally is highly injurious and chemically manufactured. The fact that spurious labels of well known brands of liquor fail to deceive is a favorable sign and indication that while the illegal liquor business by the policy of attrition will not perhaps be wholly eliminated, yet at least it will be kept well in restraint.

RELATIVE TO ANNUITY TO DEPENDENTS OF POLICE OFFICERS KILLED IN THE PERFORMANCE OF DUTY.

Justice requires that dependent families of police officers killed in the performance of duty should be fully protected and safeguarded when the wage earner is removed either through acts of criminal violence or from causes beyond his control while in the conscientious performance of duty. Dependents of police officers in this Department, killed while on duty or dying from injuries received while on duty, although in a more favorable position than similar dependents of police officers of other police departments of this State, in that they are entitled not only to the sum of $2,500, now received by dependents of police officers outside of Boston, but also to an annuity of not more than $600 a year, — are, however, not fully recompensed for their loss, inasmuch as the widow or other dependents, even with these payments, cannot give the family of the decedent or receive themselves the comforts and education that would have been obtained if the police officer had not been killed.

During my incumbency in office, a number of police officers of this department have been killed in the performance of duty. To pay to the dependents of police officers the sum of $2,000 yearly until either the remarriage of the widow, the attainment of majority of the children or the death of adult dependents, would not place an undue burden upon a city or town. In all decency, monetary considerations should not be regarded, as this annuity should be a testimonial of the citizens to the heroic action of the dead officer.

Public or private subscriptions for the benefit of families of slain police officers should be unnecessary and now are often ill timed. Employees of private corporations, under the workman compensation law, are protected by indemnity insurance paid for by employers. It is self evident that a city or town should have some equitable form of insurance for dependent families of slain police officers, especially in cases where the slain officer leaves a large family.

The family of a slain police officer should not be the object of charitable contributions, but should, as a matter of right, remain in the same financial position immediately after the head of the house is stricken as it was before his death. The grief of a family over the loss of a dear one should not be magnified by the attendant fear of pecuniary embarrassment.

A bill has been presented by me to the Legislature whereby the yearly sum of $2,000 will be paid to the dependents of police officers killed in the performance of duty.

AUTOMOBILES LEASED ON A MILEAGE BASIS.

Employment of lawful agencies by criminals to pursue criminal operations cannot be prevented, but may be supervised. New methods employed in the commission of crime naturally present new problems for the police to solve. Stolen cars as a means of conveyance in the commission of crime, have been found by criminals to be a dangerous expedient, but a convenient substitute for stolen cars, however, is the leased car. Persons or corporations owning and renting cars on a mileage basis find ready customers in those criminally inclined.

Statutory enactment defining the duties of owners of garages in keeping proper records of cars entering and leaving the premises was recently passed. While proprietors of this new industry of leasing cars to be driven by the lessee are not unfriendly to the police and would not deliberately conceal important information which should be reported, yet, inasmuch as there is no legal obligation upon them to record the names or license numbers of operators of cars leased by them, accurate records are therefore not kept. Investigating officers consequently are often unable to obtain important evidence where clues have been obtained that one of these leased cars was involved in serious crime. Legislation to remedy this defect I am proposing, realizing the growth which this particular line of industry is bound to have.

EXTORTION.

It is a common statement that there are too many laws passed by legislative assemblies and that if the laws now in effect were enforced, additional laws would be unnecessary. Police experience demonstrates that not only are there a large number of laws relating to crime in effect in this Commonwealth, infringement of which brings little disturbance to the safety of the community, but, what is more important, that there are serious defects in important laws relating to crime, of which criminals, defended by astute counsel, take advantage in order to escape just and due punishment.

Blackmailing innocent and wealthy individuals should be summarily dealt with when the blackmailers are apprehended. Chapter 265, section 25, of the General Laws, relating to this type of crime, punishes the perpetrator when he threatens injury to the person or property of another, but unfortunately affords no remedy when an attempt is made to terrorize by threat of death or injury to his child or other relative. Common sense demands that this condition should not exist, and I am proposing legislation to take care of this omission.

TRAFFIC.

Regulation and control of pedestrian and vehicular traffic in this city is decidedly a local problem, dissimilar in its main features to that of other cities. Considerable work has been done in widening and straightening several narrow and winding streets in the business section of the city, but the increased number of vehicles thus afforded passage and parking facilities magnifies the police problem of keeping traffic fluent.

On February 7, 1927, at the suggestion of the Mayor's Traffic Advisory Committee, His Honor Malcolm E. Nichols appointed Dr. Miller McClintock, Director of the Street Traffic Survey to be made under the auspices of the Albert Russell Erskine Bureau of Harvard University for the purpose of conducting an engineering investigation of the traffic control problems of the city of Boston.

During the year, the Survey has been pursuing studies designed to reveal the primary causes of accident and congestion within the city and to design on the basis of such facts a comprehensive system of traffic control to relieve these conditions. In making this survey, the Police Department has rendered material assistance, many police officers having been detailed from time to time for the tabulation of traffic and one traffic sergeant detailed continuously on this work for the greater part of the year.

Pending the report by the Traffic Survey, all action by the police department to install any synchronized system of traffic signals upon main arteries, as suggested in my report of last year, was suspended. However, sixteen additional flashing beacons were placed at important intersections, and fifteen additional spotlights for the protection of traffic officers on fixed posts were installed during the year, making a total of 138 spotlights now in operation.

PLANT.

On December 4, 1926, the entire personnel and equipment of Police Headquarters were transferred to the new and commodious headquarters building at 154 Berkeley Street. The activities of this department were not suspended during the removal through the efficient system adopted for the transfer of the various units, and the skill exercised in its operation. Telephone lines were instantly "cut-over" to the new quarters from the old headquarters building and all departments transferred were functioning in the new building a few hours after the transfer was commenced. Considering the magnitude of the operation with the necessary transfer of hundreds of thousands of valuable records, books and documents from the offices of the Police Commissioner, the Superintendent, the Chief Inspector, the Chief Clerk, Director of Signal Service, Inspector of Hackney Carriages, and Inspector of Claims, great credit is due both to the contractor effecting the transfer, and to the officials of this department who planned and cooperated with the contractor in making this transfer.

During the past year, the police station of the fourteenth division in Brighton was enlarged by the taking over of space in the same building previously occupied by the Brighton District Court. This district now has a large, sanitary and well equipped station house. The exteriors and interiors of the station houses of Divisions 1, 4, 6 and the City Prison were thoroughly cleansed and repainted, and repair work done on the exteriors of the station houses of Divisions 16 and 3. Three new patrol wagons were installed at Divisions 4, 5 and 12, and the harbor police boats, Guardian, Watchman, E. U. Curtis and Argus, were reconditioned and repaired for continuous service.

The general condition of the station houses of Divisions 3, 4, and 5 is not good. These buildings are antiquated and unfit for police work both in general office and in dormitory arrangements. The cells in these station houses, located in the basements, are contrary to law and also unsanitary. New buildings for these Divisions with proper space for the conduct of police business, with healthful and sanitary accommodations for police officers and prisoners as well, are badly needed, which facts I have stated in my previous reports.

The old wooden stable owned by the city of Boston, in the rear of the old town hall, now used by Division 14 as a garage, could well be sold and the proceeds of both land and building used for the erection of a fireproof, eight-car garage in the rear of the station house.

Plans have been drawn and approved for the enlargement of the station house of Division 7 in East Boston in connection with the enlargement of the Court House. This building at present is too small and poorly arranged for the amount of police business transacted by this division. The proposed alterations and repairs should be completed forthwith so that the premises may be made sanitary and adequate for the carrying on of police business for this district.

Very respectfully,

HERBERT A. WILSON,
Police Commissioner for the City of Boston.

DISTRIBUTION AND CHANGES.

The distribution of the police force is shown by Table I. During the year 149 patrolmen were appointed; 3 patrolmen reinstated; 30 patrolmen discharged; 54 patrolmen resigned (25 while charges were pending); 13 patrolmen promoted; 1 sergeant reduced; 1 deputy superintendent, 2 captains, 3 inspectors, 4 lieutenants, 4 sergeants and 33 patrolmen were retired on pensions; 2 inspectors, 1 lieutenant, 1 sergeant and 6 patrolmen died. (See Tables II, III, IV.)

POLICE OFFICERS INJURED WHILE ON DUTY.

The following statement shows the number of police officers injured while on duty during the past year, the number of duties lost by them on account thereof, and the causes of the injuries.

HOW INJURED.	Number of Men Injured.	Number of Duties Lost.
In arresting prisoners	52	250
In pursuing criminals	14	106
By cars and other vehicles	96	1,457
By stopping runaways	1
Various other causes	79	1,027
Total	242	2,840

WORK OF THE DEPARTMENT.

Arrests.

The total number of arrests, counting each arrest as that of a separate person, was 88,878 as against 84,273 the preceding year, being an increase of 4,605. The percentage of decrease and increase was as follows:—

	Per Cent.
Offences against the person	Decrease 4.07
Offences against property committed with violence	Decrease 7.37
Offences against property committed without violence	Decrease 5.24
Malicious offences against property	Increase 4.25
Forgery and offences against the currency	Decrease 6.15

	Per Cent.
Offences against the license laws	Increase 2.09
Offences against chastity, morality, etc.	Decrease 9.91
Offences not included in the foregoing	Increase 7.24

There were 13,601 persons arrested on warrants and 52,410 without warrants; 22,867 persons were summoned by the courts; 84,774 persons were held for trial; 4,104 were released from custody. The number of males arrested was 83,136; of females, 5,742; of foreigners, 27,165; or approximately 30.56 per cent; of minors, 8,317. Of the total number arrested, 23,825, or 26.80 per cent, were non-residents. (See Tables X, XI.)

The average amount of fines imposed by the courts for the five years from 1923 to 1927, inclusive, was $343,946.21; in 1927 it was $394,223.25; or $50,277.04 more than the average.

The average number of days' attendance at court was 50,249; in 1927 it was 55,268, or 5,019 more than the average.

The average amount of witness fees earned was $15,296.53; in 1927 it was $13,934.18, or $1,362.35 less than the average. (See Table XIII.)

Drunkenness.

In the arrests for drunkenness the average per day was 106. There were 88 fewer persons arrested than in 1926, a decrease of .22 per cent; 22.97 per cent of the arrested persons were nonresidents and 36.98 per cent of foreign birth. (See Table XI.)

The nativity of the prisoners was as follows: —

United States	61,713	Austria	129
British Provinces	4,264	Portugal	405
Ireland	8,290	Finland	146
England	662	Denmark	62
France	97	Holland	26
Germany	266	Wales	8
Italy	4,077	East Indies	10
Russia	3,480	West Indies	74
China	476	Turkey	135
Greece	722	South America	63
Sweden	765	Switzerland	19
Scotland	431	Belgium	32
Spain	127	Armenia	117
Norway	254	Africa	7
Poland	1,124	Hungary	16
Australia	23	Asia	4

Arabia	17	India	1
Mexico	12	Egypt	2
Japan	9	Albania	17
Syria	169	Iceland	2
Roumania	2
Lithuania	623	Total	88,878

The number of arrests for the year was 88,878, being an increase of 4,605 over last year, and 5,489 more than the average for the past five years. There were 38,794 persons arrested for drunkenness, being 88 fewer than last year, and 196 more than the average for the past five years. Of the arrests for drunkenness this year, there was a decrease of .11 per cent in males and a decrease of .12 per cent in females from last year. (See Tables XI, XIII.)

Of the total number of arrests for the year (88,878), 768 were for violation of city ordinances; that is to say that one arrest in 115 was for such offence, or .12 per cent.

Sixty and ninety-eight hundredths per cent of the persons taken into custody were between the ages of twenty and forty. (See Table XI.)

The number of persons punished by fines was 28,928, and the fines amounted to $394,223.25. (See Table XIII.)

Eighty-six persons were committed to the State Prison, 2,988 to the House of Correction, 36 to the Women's Prison, 96 to the Reformatory prison, and 1,579 to other institutions. The total years of imprisonment were 1 life, 2,118 years, 10 months (178 sentences indefinite); the total number of days' attendance at court by officers was 55,268, and the witness fees earned by them amounted to $13,934.18.

The value of the property taken from prisoners and lodgers was $264,448.85.

Twenty-three witnesses were detained at station houses, 198 were accommodated with lodgings, an increase of 12 over last year. There was a decrease of 1.36 per cent in the number of sick and injured persons assisted, and an increase of about 2.70 per cent in the number of lost children cared for.

The average amount of property reported stolen in and out of the city for the five years from 1923 to 1927, inclusive, was $1,896,409.85, in 1927 it was $1,421,731.11, or $474,678.74 less than the average. The amount of property stolen in and out of the city, which was recovered by the Boston police, was $2,100,248.24 as against $2,214,100.62 last year, or $113,852.38 less. (See Table XIII.)

BUREAU OF CRIMINAL INVESTIGATION.

The "identification room" now contains 68,248 photographs, 55,928 of which are photographs with Bertillon measurements, a system used by the Department since November 30, 1898. In accordance with the Revised Laws, chapter 225, section 18, and with the General Laws, chapter 127, sections 27 to 29, both inclusive, we are allowed photographs with Bertillon measurements taken of the convicts in the State Prison and Reformatory, a number of which have been added to our Bertillon cabinets. This, together with the adoption of the system by the Department in 1898, is and will continue to be of great assistance in the identification of criminals. A large number of important identifications have thus been made during the year for this and other police departments, through which the sentences in many instances have been materially increased. The records of 1,375 criminals have been added to the records of this Bureau, which now contains a total of 48,426. The number of cases reported at this office which have been investigated during the year is 38,410. There are 44,789 cases reported on the assignment books kept for this purpose and reports made on these cases are filed away for future reference. The system of indexing adopted by this Bureau for the use of the Department now contains a list of records, histories, photographs, dates of arrests, etc., of about 223,000 persons. There are also "histories and press clippings" now numbering 9,857 made by this Bureau, in envelope form for police reference.

The finger-print system of identification which was adopted in June, 1906, has progressed in a satisfactory manner, and with it the identification of criminals is facilitated. It has become very useful in tracing criminals and furnishing corroborating evidence in many instances.

The statistics of the work of this branch of the service are included in the statement of the general work of the Department, but as the duties are of a special character, the following statement will be of interest:—

Number of persons arrested, principally for felonies	1,593
Fugitives from justice from other States, arrested and delivered to officers from those States	54
Number of cases investigated	38,410
Number of extra duties performed	2,530

HOUSE OF DETENTION.

The house of detention for women is located in the court house, Somerset Street. All the women arrested in the city proper and in the Charlestown, South Boston and Roxbury Crossing districts are taken to the house of detention in a van provided for the purpose. They are then held in charge of the matron until the next session of the court before which they are to appear. If sentenced to imprisonment, they are returned to the house of detention, and from there conveyed to the jail or institution to which they have been sentenced.

During the year 2,475 were committed for the following:—

POLICE SIGNAL SERVICE.

Signal Boxes.

The total number of boxes in use is 526. Of these 358 are connected with the underground system and 168 with the overhead.

Miscellaneous Work.

During the year the employees of this service responded to 1,781 trouble calls; inspected 526 signal boxes, 18 signal desks and 1,083 batteries; repaired 205 box movements, 74 registers, 85 polar box bells, 90 locks, 70 time stamps, 20 vibrator bells, and 12 electric fans, besides repairing all bell and electric light work at the various stations. There have been made 58 plungers, 60 complete box fittings, 70 line blocks, 72 automatic hooks and a large amount of small work done which cannot be classified.

The police signal service has charge of 138 reflector spotlights, which have been installed by the Commissioner for the regulation of traffic, also 5 signal towers. A light Ford truck has been provided for spotlight and tower work.

Eleven new signal boxes have been installed; one at station 13, two at station 14, one at station 17, four at station 18, three at station 19, six of which are overhead boxes and five underground.

Cable is on hand for the 1927 prescribed district but as the New England Telephone Company's ducts are not available none has been laid. The underground work done this year was on the 1925 and 1926 prescribed district at South Boston on Divisions 6 and 12.

Owing to excessive work and long service our signal registers are in very poor condition. The Gamewell Company made changes in their standard register adaptable to our system and one has been purchased and is now under test.

There are in use in the signal service: 1 White truck, 1 Ford sedan and 2 Ford trucks.

During the year the automobile patrol wagons made 54,054 runs, covering an aggregate distance of 94,594 miles. There were 35,441 prisoners conveyed to the station houses, 3,558 runs were made to take injured or insane persons to station houses, hospitals or their homes and 366 runs were made to take lost children to station houses. There were 2,877 runs to fires and 577 runs for liquor seizures. During the year there were 526 signal boxes in use arranged on 72 battery circuits and 72 telephone circuits; 602,554 telephone messages and 4,250,996 "on duty" calls were sent over the lines.

The following list comprises the property in the signal service at the present time: —

18 signal desks	224,890 feet overhead cable
72 circuits	22,346 feet of duct
526 street signal boxes	66 manholes
14 stable call boards	1 White truck
75 test boxes	2 Ford trucks
1,083 cells of battery	1 Ford sedan
641,558 feet underground cable

HARBOR SERVICE.

The special duties performed by the Police of Division 8 comprising the harbor and the islands therein, were as follows:—

Value of property recovered, consisting of boats, rigging, float stages, etc.	$32,798 00

The number of vessels that arrived in this port was 8,820, 7,344 of which were from domestic ports, 486 from the British Provinces in Canada and 990 from foreign ports. Of the latter 648 were steamers, 27 were motor vessels and 1 schooner.

A patrol service was maintained in Dorchester Bay from June 20 to October 15, 1927.

The launch E. U. Curtis cruised nightly from Castle Island to Neponset Bridge. Twenty-two cases were investigated, twelve boats were challenged and searched for contraband, five obstructions removed from the channel, assistance rendered to ten boats in distress by reason of disabled engines, stress of weather, etc., and towing them with the persons aboard to a place of safety, one dead body recovered from the water, two arrests on suspicion, two yachts ordered from channel and three boats challenged.

HORSES.

On the 30th of November, 1926, there were 32 horses in the service. During the year two were purchased; one was sold in trade and one humanely killed. At the present time there are 32 in the service as shown by Table VIII.

VEHICLE SERVICE.

Automobiles.

There are 69 automobiles in the service at the present time; 23 attached to headquarters; one at the house of detention, used as a woman's van and kept at Division 4; 10 in the city proper and attached to Divisions 1, 2, 3, 4 and 5; four in the South Boston district, attached to Divisions 6 and 12; two in the East Boston district, attached to Division 7; four in the Roxbury district, attached to Divisions 9 and 10; two in the Dorchester district attached to Division 11; two in the Jamaica Plain district, attached to Division 13; two in the Brighton district, attached to Division 14; two in the Charlestown district, attached to Division 15; five in the Back Bay and Fenway, attached to Division 16; two in the West Roxbury district, attached to Division 17; two in the Hyde Park district, attached to Division 18; two in the Mattapan district, attached to Division 19; two assigned for use of the traffic divisions and four unassigned. RAILROAD POLICE.

There were 127 persons appointed railroad policemen during the year, 117 of whom were employees of the Boston & Maine Railroad and 10 of the New York, New Haven and Hartford Railroad.

MISCELLANEOUS LICENSES.

The total number of applications for miscellaneous licenses received was 28,851. Of these 28,526 were granted, of which 150 were canceled for nonpayment, leaving 28,376. During the year 720 licenses were transferred, 579 canceled, 17 revoked, and 325 applications were rejected. The officers investigated 1,629 complaints arising under these licenses. The fees collected and paid into the city treasury amounted to $74,435.35. There was also $19.44 received by the city collector from the Boston City Hospital for eighteen police pocket directories, which sum was credited to this Department. (See Tables XIV and XVII.)

MUSICIANS' LICENSES.

Itinerant.

During the year there were 50 applications for itinerant musicians' licenses received. Four licenses were subsequently canceled on account of nonpayment of license fee.

All the instruments in use by itinerant musicians are inspected before the license is granted, and it is arranged with a qualified musician, not a member of the department, that such instruments shall be inspected in April and September of each year.

During the year 61 instruments were inspected with the following results:—

KIND OF INSTRUMENT.	Number Inspected.	Number Passed.
Street pianos	22	22
Hand organs	13	13

PENSIONS AND BENEFITS.

On December 1, 1926, there were 246 pensioners on the roll. During the year 23 died, viz., 1 captain, 1 lieutenant, 5 sergeants and 16 patrolmen, and 1 annuitant remarried. Fifty were added, viz., 2 captains, 3 inspectors, 4 lieutenants, 4 sergeants, 33 patrolmen, 1 chief matron, 1 foreman of line-men, 1 signalman and the widow of Patrolman Harris B. McInnes, who was killed while on duty; leaving 272 on the roll at date, 241 men and 31 women.

The payments on account of pensions during the past year amounted to $224,008.53, and it is estimated that $240,700.66 will be required for pensions in 1928. This does not include pensions for 1 inspector, 1 sergeant, 11 patrolmen and 1 civilian employee, all of whom are 65 years old or more and are entitled to be pensioned on account of age and term of service.

The invested fund of the Police Charitable Fund amounted to $207,550. There are 62 beneficiaries at the present time and there has been paid to them the sum of $8,273.34 during the past year.

FINANCIAL.

The total expenditures for police purposes during the past year, including pensions and listing persons twenty years of age or more, but exclusive of the maintenance of the police signal service, were $5,454,235.51. (See Table XVII.)

The cost of maintaining the police signal service during the year was $56,876.25. (See Table XVIII.)

The total revenue paid into the city treasury from fees for licenses over which the police have supervision, for the sale of unclaimed and condemned property, uniform cloth, etc., was $82,191.34. There was turned into the City Collector's office from the Boston City Hospital $19.44 for 18 police directories, which sum was credited to this Department. (See Table XIV.)

REPORT.

HEADQUARTERS OF THE POLICE DEPARTMENT,
OFFICE OF THE POLICE COMMISSIONER, 154 BERKELEY STREET,
BOSTON, December 1, 1928.

To His Excellency ALVAN T. FULLER, Governor.

YOUR EXCELLENCY:—As Police Commissioner for the city of Boston I have the honor to present, in compliance with the provisions of chapter 291 of the Acts of the year 1906, a report of the Police Department for the year ending November 30, 1928.

CONTROL OF PEDESTRIAN AND VEHICULAR TRAFFIC.

On February 7, 1927, at the suggestion of the Mayor's Traffic Advisory Committee, Malcolm E. Nichols, Mayor of Boston, appointed Dr. Miller McClintock, Director of the Street Traffic Survey to be made under the auspices of the Albert Russell Erskine Bureau, Harvard University, to conduct an engineering investigation of the traffic control problem of the city of Boston. The Street Traffic Survey with the aid of the Police Department worked assiduously and earnestly upon this problem of traffic solution. Careful compilation of figures relative to the flow and direction of traffic both vehicular and pedestrian was obtained with the aid of intelligent investigators. The problem was considered not hastily but with the thoroughness and intelligence naturally to be expected from the traffic expert engaged for this purpose. In June, 1928, a voluminous and comprehensive report was submitted to the Mayor of Boston by Dr. McClintock, and after many consultations and conferences, many of the recommendations made by the Traffic Survey for the development of celerity of traffic were adopted by the Board of Street Commissioners in the form of new traffic rules and regulations issued in September of this year. The recommendation of the boulevard stop system on Commonwealth Avenue and Blue Hill Avenue requiring traffic on side streets to come to a complete stop before entering these main arteries has been put into effect by orders of the Street Commissioners and Board of Park Commissioners. The Police Department after having obtained from the State Department of Public Works approval of the signs and markers to be placed for the purpose of notifying the public of this regulation have been installing the same on these two avenues. The Legislature of 1928, Chapter 357, provided for uniform traffic signs, lights, markings, signal systems and regulations. Under this legislation no rule, regulation, order, ordinance, or by-law of a city or town hereinafter made or promulgated relative to or in connection with such signs, lights, markings, signal systems or devices, or in any way within this control can take effect until approved in writing by the State Department of Public Works, or can be effective after this approval is revoked.

The adoption of boulevard stops on main arteries is not only imperative to reduce accidents, but necessary also to expedite traffic in congested areas. The extension of these boulevard stops to other main traffic arteries in this city undoubtedly will be recommended.

Upon the recommendation of the Traffic Survey automatic timing lights were recommended for installation on Washington Street and Tremont Street so that traffic can be speeded up from six to sixteen miles an hour. Plans and specifications have been prepared by the Engineering Division of the Board of Street Commissioners, and advertisements for bids have been made to be received early in January, 1929. The effect of the installation of this system in these crowded areas both as regards fluidity of traffic and prevention of accidents, is at present impossible to foretell. Additional installations of similar lights upon other main arteries in this city will undoubtedly be recommended. During the past year ten spotlights were installed in various parts of the city, making a present total of one hundred and forty-eight spotlights in use. Several other recommendations of the Survey relative to control of traffic in the congested areas are now being tested, such as the adoption of traffic lanes. At this time it is too early to determine the effect that the adoption of these recommendations will have upon the control of traffic.

LIQUOR NUISANCES.

A statement in regard to the amount of work done by the police in enforcing the prohibitory laws, and also of local liquor conditions, necessarily must be included in the annual report of this Department. Liquor traffic and street traffic control present a continuous problem to the police. Homicides, burglaries and other violent crimes are sporadic, and may be classified as seasonable police business. Police work suppressing liquor violations is constant. The increase or decrease of arrests for drunkenness is regarded by some statisticians as a barometer to determine the status of the liquor problem. These arrests however are not an accurate gauge of the enormous burden placed upon local police since the passage of the prohibitory laws.

Arrests cannot be made even though suspicion obtains that the liquor laws are being violated, for violators cannot be convicted upon suspicion but only upon direct evidence of violation of law. The presentation to a magistrate, as proof of guilt, of a vessel smelling strongly of intoxicating liquor would be regarded as ridiculous, even though intoxicating liquor had been hastily poured from this vessel, in the presence of the police, within a very few seconds before its seizure. Intoxicating liquor, neutralized by disinfectants, because non-potable, is worthless as evidence.

If under the laws of the Commonwealth the illegal purchase of intoxicating liquor was made a criminal offence as is the illegal sale, considerable caution about violating prohibitory laws would be exercised by that class of citizens who look for the strict enforcement by the police of all laws protecting lives or property. Law enforcement cannot be qualified.

Those who illegally buy intoxicating liquor and stifle their consciences with the theory that prohibitory laws are not binding because they abridge personal freedom, should at least not openly complain of liquor conditions in their respective communities. Much unwarranted criticism is made of the police in not terminating liquor traffic. This censure is most unjust, because often made by individuals or organizations that are not cognizant of the unlimited odds, obstacles and difficulties which the police constantly encounter in trying to desiccate wet sections of a city. The liquor problem in this city has been treated in all my annual reports, and frankly speaking, the difficult conditions encountered by the police to arrest liquor traffickers have not diminished but have increased. Recommendations have been made from time to time that upon conviction, a violator of the liquor law should be given a jail sentence. The records of the courts show that very few liquor violators are sent to jail. Courts believe that extenuating circumstances often surround the commission of crime, and are loath therefore to inflict additional punishment on the families of those convicted and fined for liquor violations.

Absentee landlordism among liquor traffickers is spreading. Unfortunate agents hazard reputation and possibly liberty in dispensing intoxicating liquor for principals who never frequent premises where liquor is sold illegally. To apprehend the principal therefore is practically impossible. Constant raids upon places suspected of illegal liquor traffic with a possible conviction each time of a different violator is futile and discouraging work, and accomplishes a vicious circle.

It has been repeatedly advocated by me that the prohibitory laws of this State should be amended so as to be in accord with the Volstead Act, in giving governmental authorities the right and authority to petition courts for injunctive relief against places where despite continuous police activity illegal traffic has persisted. The Legislature of 1928 has afforded relief in equity where, by injunction, owners of property who have allowed their property to become liquor nuisances can be held responsible. Proof of a present liquor nuisance and three prior convictions for liquor traffic upon the premises within the three prior years enables injunctive relief in closing the premises for at least one year.

The term "conviction" as used in the statute means final conviction. Where liquor law violators have been placed on file, or have received suspended sentence, or probation, a conviction has not been obtained.

Equity proceedings under this legislation have been started by this Department. Both before and after the commencement of these proceedings many places where illegal liquor traffic existed have been closed by the voluntary act of the owner, and illegal liquor business thus discontinued upon the premises. The effect of the so-called "Padlock Law" cannot at this early date be predicted. Owners with proper civic pride will not compel the police to thrash them into an observance of authority. Methods of attempting to evade the law by moving these liquor nuisances to new places where convictions have not been obtained are beginning to appear. Eventually, however, lessors, it is believed, will appreciate the fact that a vacant tenement is better than a bad tenant.

Liquor enforcement officers of the Department report that the liquor situation in Boston is well in hand, and welcome comparison with any city in this country in the matter of liquor law enforcement.

CELERITY IN TRANSMITTING POLICE NEWS.

The Morkrum Teletype, a scientific system of transmitting police information operating under the Bell system has been in use in this Department for about one year. Messages relayed from Police Headquarters are instantaneously registered upon a receiving machine in the various police stations. The previous clumsy and antiquated method of transmitting police news has been replaced by efficient and accurate broadcasting machinery. Intricate machinery such as the teletype requires occasional repairs. These repairs have been made both speedily and effectively by the company installing the teletype system.

This effective method of transmitting news should not be confined to this city. Conditions under which police must act are constantly changing. The advent and perfection of the automobile and other agencies now used by criminals in the commission of crime have so changed conditions that speed and accuracy in the dissemination of police news is imperative. Allowing the criminal to employ new methods and material in the commission of crime without combating him with modern methods and machinery is false economy.

Private organizations maintain steady march with changing economic conditions, and there is no hesitancy on the part of these organizations to install new methods when increasing business may be anticipated. The latest scientific instruments, when possible, should be employed by police organizations either in checking or apprehending criminals. To rely upon past systems of delivery of messages by telephone or telegraph is not only antiquated but negligent.

The system of transmission of news by teletype which has been installed in this city could be utilized as a nucleus to extend a network of antennae for the conveyance of important messages to the police departments of the Commonwealth.

Delay in the prosecution of criminals by the invocation of intricate legal technicalities cannot be attributed to the police, but to permit criminals to escape from the confines of this Commonwealth after the commission of crime, because of inadequate broadcasting, would be unfortunate.

POLICE PROPERTY.

During the past year the exterior and interior of the station houses attached to Divisions 15 and 16 were thoroughly cleansed and repainted, and also the garage and stable of Division 16. The police stable on Albany Street used by Traffic Division 20 for stabling horses has been abandoned, and the twenty-six saddle horses of this Department are now quartered at the stable attached to Division 16. The offices of station houses of Divisions 11 and 12 were remodeled to take care of increased business. Repair work was done on the garage attached to Division 11; also considerable repairs to the exterior of station house of Division 9.

All boats attached to Division 8 were overhauled, and placed in condition for continuous service. The heating apparatus at Headquarters and at all the station houses was inspected and repaired during the summer. The new type of patrol wagons was placed at Divisions 7, 10, 11, 13 and 16, and 52 motorcycles were purchased by the Department, making a total of 66 motorcycles available for police work.

New garages at Station 14, situated in Brighton, and Station 12, situated in South Boston, are greatly needed. As stated in my report of last year, the old wooden building owned by the city of Boston in the rear of the old Town Hall, now used by Division 14 as a garage, could be sold, and the proceeds of both land and building used for the erection of a fireproof eight-car garage in the rear of the station house. A new garage is necessary for the motor vehicles and motorcycles used by Division 12. Storing motor vehicles used by Division 12 in the garage of Station 6, South Boston, should in the interest of better policing be discontinued.

The police steamer Guardian, which has been in continuous police service since October, 1896, except for short intervals for overhauling, must be replaced by another boat. The boilers of the Guardian are not in good condition, and parts of the hull show signs of rot and decay. The policing of the waterfront and harbor is an important part of the work done by this Department, and with the advent of prohibition additional work has been placed upon the Harbor police. The expenditure of a large amount of money to overhaul the Guardian would be both uneconomic and unprofitable. If it be forced out of service because of condemnation proceedings by the Federal Government, a replacement by another vessel would be absolutely necessary, inasmuch as the three other boats attached to the harbor service and patrol would be insufficient for the service required. The building of a modern boat, designed for police purposes, is preferable to buying at auction or at private sale a vessel either now in service or temporarily in drydock. The question of building a new boat has been presented to the Mayor of Boston, and this recommendation is now under consideration.

PENSIONS TO POLICE OFFICERS.

Members of both fire and police departments are constantly exposed to personal injury and for fatal injuries received while in the performance of duty their dependents should be amply protected. Amounts received under the present pension law by dependents of deceased police officers, in my opinion, are not sufficient. It is reasonable to believe, however, that in the future this matter will be worked out satisfactorily by the Legislature of this Commonwealth.

A variance exists in the law retiring on pension police officers in this department because of permanent disability from injuries received in the performance of duty. All police officers appointed to the Boston Police Department since 1923, automatically become members of the Boston Retirement System, and, if retired because of permanent disability, must undergo a yearly physical examination by a medical board functioning under the Boston Retirement Act. Many members of the force are not members of this Boston Retirement System, and if permanently injured in the performance of duty are retired under the provisions of chapter 353 of the Acts of 1892, as amended by chapter 306 of the Acts of 1900, and chapter 6 of the Acts of 1920. These men are not subject to a subsequent yearly examination as to their fitness for reinstatement and restoration to duty.

In time of emergency the Police Commissioner has the power to recall to duty for temporary service officers who have been pensioned, but this does not grant him the power to recall retired officers for permanent service. In 1927, legislation was passed (chapter 257 of the Acts of 1927), requiring a yearly physical examination of firemen in Boston who have been retired under pension laws other than the Boston Retirement Act of 1922. It appears equitable that the provision of law relating to the pension of police officers in the city of Boston should be the same in the case of all members of the force who have been retired because of physical disability. Legislation to this effect has been introduced by me to the incoming Legislature.

ADDITIONAL POLICE OFFICERS.

The present maximum strength of this department is 2,024 patrolmen. The number of police officers available for patrol work is always seven-eighths of the total force, inasmuch as every police officer is entitled to one day off in eight. The sickness list necessarily increases during the winter months. During the summer and fall months, especially during the vacation period which extends from May to December, there are at times, nearly 500 men unavailable, one-eleventh of the force being on vacation and one-eighth of the remainder on a day off.

With increase in construction of schoolhouses, more police officers are required to protect school children. All school crossings, at the present time, are not covered, because of shortage of police officers. Even when all available officers are used for this purpose, it often requires the withdrawal of patrolmen from important special work to which they have been assigned.

Control of vehicular and pedestrian traffic at an increased number of traffic points presents a difficult problem because of the limited number of police officers to assign to this work. Installation of synchronized lights will not eliminate the necessity of traffic officers at intersections equipped with such a lighting system, because police officers will be required for some time at every intersection to enforce obedience to the signals and to render police service in case of accidents.

At the present time 32 police officers have been assigned to enforce the parking regulations promulgated by the Board of Street Commissioners. Sufficient evidence must be presented to satisfy the Court in cases of illegal parking. Police officers must know the time when a car was parked at a certain point, and the time of departure. This requires police officers to confine their work to a small area, for courts will not accept estimates of the length of time of parking by persons cited into court for illegal parking. For this work at least 100 men are required if the people are to be made to understand that parking rules were made to be enforced.

Traffic officers assigned to fixed posts cannot do parking work and if more officers are to be added to the present parking squad, they must be obtained from divisions where commanding officers are continually asking for additional officers for patrol work.

Traffic and route officers are necessarily obliged to go to court in the prosecution of cases and while there, important traffic posts cannot be manned or routes patrolled.

Control of hackney carriages operated in this city (2,667 taxicabs and 7 horse-drawn carriages, and 4,537 licensed hackney carriage drivers) requires additional officers. The duty and responsibility of licensing all hackney carriage drivers and carriages rests upon the Police Commissioner. Before these licenses are granted an investigation is made of the character of the applicant and also an examination of the vehicle licensed. Supervising officers are necessary so that the traveling public may be protected. The present staff of police officers assigned to this work necessarily has been drawn from police divisions. Proper supervision of the operations of these licensees requires a larger number of officers than at present assigned.

Claims against the city of Boston are investigated by the Inspector of Claims with the assistance of police officers. The number of claims against this city has increased enormously during the past five years and additional men drawn from the various divisions have been added to this unit.

The District Attorney of Suffolk County files requests for the services of police officers of this department to bring back to this jurisdiction prisoners desired for trial. These requests have always been honored and a considerable withdrawal of police officers from this department from patrol work has necessarily ensued.

A Special Service Squad of 20 men under the direct charge of a captain has been created for the purpose of night patrol duty in motor vehicles. That their services have been of great value cannot be gainsaid as hundreds of stolen automobiles have been recovered and many bandits and hold-up men captured. The personnel of this organization is of men from the various divisions. At present there is only one shift. The number of officers attached to this unit should be increased so that another night shift could be formed.

Conditions today require more police officers than in the past. The advent of the automobile and its use in the commission of crime has presented new and alarming problems for the police.

Concurrent action of the Mayor of Boston and the Police Commissioner is required in order to increase the present number of patrolmen in this department. I have requested 150 additional police officers of the Mayor and that request is now under advisement.

Very respectfully,

HERBERT A. WILSON,

Police Commissioner for the City of Boston.

DISTRIBUTION AND CHANGES.

The distribution of the police force is shown by Table I. During the year 104 patrolmen were appointed; 19 patrolmen were discharged; 28 patrolmen resigned (19 while charges were pending), 29 patrolmen were promoted; 2 captains, 2 lieutenants, 7 sergeants and 15 patrolmen were retired on pensions; 1 captain, 1 inspector, 1 sergeant and 10 patrolmen died. (See Tables II, III, IV.)

POLICE OFFICERS INJURED WHILE ON DUTY.

The following statement shows the number of police officers injured while on duty during the past year, the number of duties lost by them on account thereof, and the causes of the injuries.

How Injured.	Number of Men Injured	Number of Duties Lost.
In arresting prisoners	79	118
In pursuing criminals	16	204
By cars and other vehicles	119	3,004
By stopping runaways	2	—
Various other causes	113	692
Total	329	4,018

WORK OF THE DEPARTMENT.

Arrests.

The total number of arrests, counting each arrest as that of a separate person, was 95,807 as against 88,878 the preceding year, being an increase of 6,929. The percentage of decrease and increase was as follows:—

	Per Cent.
Offences against the person	Increase 7.67
Offences against property committed with violence	Increase 11.40
Offences against property committed without violence	Increase 8.20
Malicious offences against property	Increase 38.09
Forgery and offences against the currency	Decrease 1.63
Offences against the license laws	Increase 7.66
Offences against chastity, morality, etc.	Increase 34.91
Offences not included in the foregoing	Increase 7.10

There were 15,651 persons arrested on warrants and 52,741 without warrants; 27,415 persons were summoned by the courts; 69,281 persons were prosecuted; 25,601 were released by probation officers or discharged at station houses and 925 were delivered to outside authorities. There were 800 extra prosecutions, making a total of 70,081 cases prosecuted. The number of males arrested was 89,467; of females, 6,340; of foreigners, 27,528; or approximately 28.73 per cent; of minors, 9,177. Of the total number arrested, 27,433, or 28.63 per cent, were non-residents. (See Tables IX, X.)

The average amount of fines imposed by the courts for the five years from 1924 to 1928, inclusive, was $388,590.18; in 1928 it was $493,577.00; or $104,986.82 more than the average.

The average number of days' attendance at court was 53,451; in 1928, it was 59,739, or 6,288 more than the average.

The average amount of witness fees earned was $14,946.38, in 1928 it was $14,790.26 or $156.12 less than the average. (See Table XII.)

DRUNKENNESS.

In the arrests for drunkenness the average per day was 106. There were 254 more persons arrested than in 1927, an increase of .66 per cent; 24 per cent of the arrested persons were non-residents and 36.32 per cent of foreign birth. (See Table X.)

The nativity of the prisoners was as follows:—

United States	68,280	Austria	132
British Provinces	4,322	Portugal	495
Ireland	8,207	Finland	202
England	641	Denmark	87
France	116	Holland	23
Germany	376	Wales	1
Italy	4,036	East Indies	10
Russia	3,433	West Indies	98
China	818	Turkey	81
Greece	567	South America	52
Sweden	750	Switzerland	23
Scotland	505	Belgium	29
Spain	123	Armenia	123
Norway	249	Africa	6
Poland	1,205	Hungary	9
Australia	29	Asia	1
Arabia	6	Roumania	1
Mexico	16	Japan	13
Syria	150	Philippine Islands	3
Lithuania	589	Total	95,807

The number of arrests for the year was 95,807, being an increase of 6,929 over last year, and 8,603 more than the average for the past five years. There were 39,048 persons arrested for drunkenness, being 254 more than last year, and 220 more than the average for the past five years. Of the arrests for drunkenness this year, there was an increase of .68 per cent in males and a decrease of .20 per cent in females from last year. (See Tables X, XII.)

Of the total number of arrests for the year, 95,807, 467 were for violation of city ordinances; that is to say that one arrest in 205 was for such offence, or .48 per cent.

Sixty-one and four hundredths per cent of the persons taken into custody were between the ages of twenty and forty. (See Table X.)

The number of persons punished by fines was 33,812 and the fines amounted to $493,577. (See Table XII.)

One hundred persons were committed to the State Prison, 2,772 to the House of Correction, 47 to the Women's Prison, 135 to the Reformatory Prison, and 2,738 to other institutions.

The total years of imprisonment were 2,446 years, 10 months, 27 days (322 sentences indefinite); the total number of days' attendance at court by officers was 59,739, and the witness fees earned by them amounted to $14,790.26.

The value of the property taken from prisoners and lodgers was $277,094.57.

Twenty witnesses were detained at station houses, 192 were accommodated with lodgings, a decrease of 6 from last year. There was an increase of 10.61 per cent in the number of sick and injured persons assisted, and a decrease of about 13.42 per cent in the number of lost children cared for.

The average amount of property reported stolen in and out of the city for the five years from 1924 to 1928, inclusive, was $1,787,449.76, in 1928 it was $1,516,623.37, or $270,826.39 less than the average. The amount of property stolen in and out of the city, which was recovered by the Boston police, was $2,881,110.36, as against $2,100,248.24 last year, or $780,862.12 more. (See Table XII.)

BUREAU OF CRIMINAL INVESTIGATION.

The "identification room" now contains 69,980 photographs, 56,521 of which are photographs with Bertillon measurements, a system used by the Department since November 30, 1898.

In accordance with the Revised Laws, chapter 225, section 18, and with the General Laws, chapter 127, sections 27 to 29, both inclusive, we are allowed photographs with Bertillon measurements taken of the convicts in the State Prison and Reformatory, a number of which have been added to our Bertillon cabinets. This, together with the adoption of the system by the Department in 1898, is and will continue to be of great assistance in the identification of criminals. A large number of important identifications have thus been made during the year for this and other police departments, through which the sentences in many instances have been materially increased. The records of 1,033 criminals have been added to the records of this Bureau, which now contains a total of 49,459. The number of cases reported at this office which have been investigated during the year is 33,838. There are 46,594 cases reported on the assignment books kept for this purpose and reports made on these cases are filed away for future reference. The system of indexing adopted by this Bureau for the use of the Department now contains a list of records, histories, photographs, dates of arrests, etc., of about 234,600 persons. There are also "histories and press clippings" now numbering 10,275 made by this Bureau, in envelope form for police reference.

The finger-print system of identification which was adopted in June, 1906, has progressed in a satisfactory manner, and with it the identification of criminals is facilitated. It has become very useful in tracing criminals and furnishing corroborating evidence in many instances.

The statistics of the work of this branch of the service are included in the statement of the general work of the Department, but as the duties are of a special character, the following statement will be of interest: —

Number of persons arrested, principally for felonies	1,735
Fugitives from justice from other States, arrested and delivered to officers from those States	65
Number of cases investigated	33,838
Number of extra duties performed	2,007
Number of cases of homicide and supposed homicide investigated and evidence prepared for trial in court	202
Number of cases of abortion and supposed abortion investigated and evidence prepared for court	9
Number of days spent in court by police officers	2,938

Number of years of imprisonment imposed by court, 157 years, 7 months
 Amount of stolen property recovered . . . $891,000.00
 Number of photographs added to identification room . . . 1,732

OFFICER DETAILED TO ASSIST MEDICAL EXAMINERS.

The officer detailed to assist the medical examiners reports having investigated 776 cases of death from the following causes:—

Abortion	4	Motorcycle	1
Accidental shooting	2	Natural causes	297
Aeroplane	2	Poison	24
Alcoholism	14	Railroad (steam)	12
Asphyxiation	9	Railway (street)	4
Automobiles	3	Stillborns	7
Bicycle	1	Struck by swing	1
Burns	15	Suffocation	8
Drowning	51	Suicides	66
Elevators	6	Teams	2
Falls	59	Homicides	167
Falling objects	15
Kicked by horse	1	Total	776
Machinery	5

On 248 of the above cases inquests were held.

Of the total number the following homicide cases were prosecuted in the courts:—

Accidental shooting	1	Railway (street)	20
Automobiles	117	Suicide	1
Falls	1	Teams	1
Manslaughter	13
Motorcycle	2	Total	167
Murder	11

LOST, ABANDONED AND STOLEN PROPERTY.

On December 1, 1927, there were 1,915 articles of lost, stolen or abandoned property in the custody of the Property Clerk, and during the year 1,180 were received. Forty pieces were sold at public auction and the proceeds, $544.80, were turned over to the Chief Clerk; 20 pieces were destroyed as worthless or sold as junk and the proceeds, $104.40, turned over to the Chief Clerk; 10 pieces were sold as perishable and the proceeds, $90.88, turned over to the Chief Clerk; 113 packages containing money to the amount of $511.61 were turned over to the Chief Clerk and 62 pieces were returned to owners, finders or administrators, leaving 2,850 packages on hand.

SPECIAL EVENTS.

The following is a list of special events transpiring during the year and gives the number of police detailed for duty at each:—

POLICE SIGNAL SERVICE.Signal Boxes.

The total number of boxes in use is 535. Of these 362 are connected with the underground system and 173 with the overhead.

Miscellaneous Work.

During the year the employees of this service responded to 1,980 trouble calls; inspected 535 signal boxes, 18 signal desks and 1,083 batteries; repaired 230 box movements, 83 registers, 96 polar box bells; 102 locks, 73 time stamps, 19 vibrator bells and 9 electric fans, besides repairing all bell and electric light work at the various stations. There have been made 96 plungers, 75 complete box fittings, 101 line blocks, 91 automatic hooks and a large amount of small work done which cannot be classified.

The police signal service has charge of 148 reflector spot-lights, which have been installed by the Commissioner for the regulation of traffic, also 5 signal towers.

Nine new signal boxes have been installed, two at Station 7, two at Station 11, one at Station 16, four at Station 19, five of which are overhead boxes and four underground.

Cable and boxes are on hand for the 1928 prescribed underground district but work of installation will not be undertaken until the spring of 1929. The underground work done this year was on the 1926 and 1927 underground districts in East Boston, Roxbury and Dorchester.

A new signal desk was purchased and fitted for Station 12 and the old one was repaired for use on some other Division.

The Gamewell punching register installed at Station 4 did not prove satisfactory and was returned to the factory for alterations. It is now in service again at the same station.

The Gamewell Company changed one of its standard police box movements to conform to our requirements, which is now being tried out. A box movement of another concern is also on trial.

A new type Ford truck was purchased to replace the old one used by the painter.

There are in use in the signal service: 1 White truck, 1 Ford sedan and 2 Ford trucks.

During the year the automobile patrol wagons made 54,310 runs, covering an aggregate distance of 118,602 miles. There were 36,137 prisoners conveyed to the station houses, 3,928 runs were made to take injured or insane persons to station houses, hospitals or their homes and 415 runs were made to take lost children to station houses. There were 3,132 runs to fires and 627 runs for liquor seizures. During the year there were 535 signal boxes in use arranged on 72 battery circuits and 72 telephone circuits; 627,486 telephone messages and 4,184,221 "on duty" calls were sent over the lines.

The following list comprises the property in the signal service at the present time:—

18 signal desks	223,690 feet overhead cable
72 circuits	23,094 feet of duct
535 street signal boxes	67 manholes
14 stable call boards	1 White truck
75 test boxes	2 Ford trucks
1,083 cells of battery	1 Ford sedan
664,408 feet underground cable

The total number of applications for miscellaneous licenses received was 28,321. Of these 28,083 were granted, of which 255 were canceled for nonpayment, leaving 27,828. During the year 483 licenses were transferred, 1,369 canceled, 34 revoked and 238 applications were rejected. The officers investigated 2,314 complaints arising under these licenses. The fees collected and paid into the city treasury amounted to $71,520.50. (See Tables XIII, XVI.)

MUSICIANS' LICENSES.

Itinerant.

During the year there were 40 applications for itinerant musicians' licenses received, one of which was disapproved and 3 licenses were subsequently canceled on account of non-payment of license fee.

All of the instruments in use by itinerant musicians are inspected before the license is granted, and it is arranged with a qualified musician, not a member of the department, that such instruments shall be inspected in April and September of each year.

During the year 51 instruments were inspected with the following result:—

KIND OF INSTRUMENT.	Number Inspected.	Number Passed.
Street pianos	24	24
Accordions	9	9
Violins	7	7
Flutes	3	3
Guitars	3	3
Banjos	2	2

PENSIONS AND BENEFITS.

On December 1, 1927, there were 272 pensioners on the roll. During the year 16 died, viz., 1 deputy superintendent, 1 chief inspector, 2 lieutenants, 3 sergeants, 7 patrolmen, 1 signal service employee and 1 annuitant. Twenty-two were added, viz.: 1 captain, 2 lieutenants, 6 sergeants, 11 patrolmen, 1 signal service mechanic and the widow of Patrolman John Condon who died from injuries received in the performance of duty, leaving 278 on the roll at date, 247 men and 31 women.

The payments on account of pensions during the past year amounted to $241,148.09 and it is estimated that $264,388 will be required for pensions in 1929. This includes partial provision for 1 lieutenant, 2 inspectors, 5 sergeants, 16 patrolmen and 2 civilian employees all of whom are 65 years old or more and are entitled to be pensioned on account of age and term of service.

The invested fund of the Police Charitable Fund amounted to $207,550. There are 58 beneficiaries at the present time and there has been paid to them the sum of $7,952.33 during the past year.

FINANCIAL.

The total expenditures for police purposes during the past year, including pensions and listing persons twenty years of age or more, but exclusive of the maintenance of the police signal service were $5,542,581.83. (See Table XVI.)

The cost of maintaining the police signal service during the year was $56,780.01. (See Table XVII.)

The total revenue paid into the city treasury from fees for licenses over which the police have supervision, for the sale of unclaimed and condemned property, uniform cloth, etc., was $83,055.66. (See Table XIII.)

REPORT.

HEADQUARTERS OF THE POLICE DEPARTMENT.
OFFICE OF THE POLICE COMMISSIONER, 154 BERKELEY STREET
BOSTON, December 1, 1929.

To His Excellency FRANK G. ALLEN, Governor.

YOUR EXCELLENCY:—As Police Commissioner for the city of Boston I have the honor to present, in compliance with the provisions of chapter 291 of the Acts of the year 1906 a report of the Police Department for the year ending November 30, 1929.

TRAFFIC.

On February 7, 1927, the Director of the Street Traffic Survey under the auspices of the Albert Russell Erskine Bureau of Harvard University, after careful investigation with competent assistants and with a full measure of police coöperation submitted a comprehensive report to the Mayor of Boston relative to traffic conditions in this city. The Board of Street Commissioners, the municipal body at that time authorized to make rules and regulations affecting the vehicular and pedestrian traffic of this city, adopted the recommendations of the survey.

Among the recommendations adopted was the boulevard stop system, a traffic aid previously recommended by me in my annual report to the Governor and later to the Board of Street Commissioners. Special markers for the same were approved by the Department of Public Works of the Commonwealth of Massachusetts and the system put into effect with favorable results on Commonwealth and Blue Hill Avenues.

The Boston Traffic Commission was created by legislative act on April 26, 1929, which became effective May 26, 1929. The personnel of the commission consists of a Commissioner appointed by the Mayor, and as associate commissioners:

the Police Commissioner, Commissioner of Public Works, Park Commissioner and the Chairman of the Board of Street Commissioners. The body now has control of vehicular traffic with power to erect and maintain traffic signs, markers and traffic control devices, and also authority to adopt, amend and repeal all existing rules pertaining to the control of vehicular traffic. The Commission has reconsidered, revised and adopted the former rules and regulations to render traffic more fluid and to prepare for traffic emergencies. An appropriation of $125,000 was made by the City Council of Boston, the plans were completed and the work has been started on the synchronization of traffic lights on Washington Street from Broadway to Haymarket Square, on Cambridge Street from Temple Street to Scollay Square, on Tremont Street from Scollay Square to Broadway, and on Boylston Street from Washington Street to Arlington Street. Appropriations of (1) $125,000 have been granted for the installation of this system of traffic lights on Massachusetts Avenue between Tremont Street and the Harvard Bridge, (2) $125,000 for traffic lights on Commonwealth Avenue between Arlington Street and Governor Square, and (3) $100,000 for the installation of automatic traffic lights in the suburban districts at dangerous intersections. The installation of this system of traffic lights on Shawmut Avenue between Roxbury Street and Broadway, and on Centre Street, West Roxbury, has been urged by the Police Commissioner for some time. Automatic traffic signals will not eliminate the necessity of man power at congested traffic intersections where pedestrian traffic must be controlled and protected and police aid rendered in case of accidents.

Jurisdiction over hackney carriages (taxicabs) remains with the Police Commissioner who has coöperated with the Traffic Commission as to the allocation of hackney carriage stands so that as far as possible, there may be conformity with the rules governing traffic.

Control of hackney carriages carries a twofold duty; first: the necessity to see that the public are properly served with taxicab service in all sections of the city, and second: that traffic is not impeded or congested because of unnecessary taxicab traffic in the congested parts of the city. On November 30, 1922, there were 1,401 licensed hackney carriages and 1,673 operators. On November 30, 1929, there were 2,930 licensed hackney carriages and 4,893 operators.

Legislation to make all hackney carriage stands public, to be used by all hackney carriage drivers, was defeated, but a commission was appointed to investigate the question of taxicab service and regulation in the city of Boston. Several hearings were held where all the parties concerned were given a right to express their views. The reports of this Commission will be forwarded to the incoming legislature. Careful study of the situation in cities where all hackney stands are public proved that the public stands benefit only the few who have obtained them by means similar to sequestration and are of no financial benefit to the majority of taxicab operators. Continuous cruising of operators in search of a vacant and profitable stand would cause traffic congestion and render more difficult traffic control by the police.

LIQUOR LAW ENFORCEMENT.

The liquor situation in Boston compares favorably with other cities in this country.

Constant effort was made by the department during the past year to suppress illegal liquor traffic. 4,727 buildings were searched upon warrants, 3,947 persons arrested for the violation of the state prohibitory laws and 33,911 persons arrested for drunkenness.

Enforcement of the liquor law, however, is becoming more difficult because the illegal sale of liquor is now being effected more secretly, and because of the almost insurmountable difficulty encountered by police officers in obtaining evidence of liquor violations in barricaded and fortified places. Police officers of this Department are forbidden to drink intoxicating liquor to obtain evidence of liquor violations. The increased activity of the police has forced proprietors of liquor nuisances to remove their establishments from the street to barricaded second and third floors of buildings. This ruse gives them more time to destroy liquor evidence in case of sudden raids by the police. Time is of the essence to operators of liquor nuisances. Liquor poured into containers filled with chemicals, cannot be used as evidence in prosecutions for violation of the liquor laws.

It is indeed unfortunate that the police are seldom able to apprehend proprietors of liquor nuisances because they are rarely seen upon the premises and are invariably absent when their unfortunate agents are trapped.

The question of the repeal of the so-called "Baby Volstead Act" will come before the legislature this year. This Act was passed in 1923 to further strengthen the existing state liquor law, and made transportation and manufacture of intoxicating liquor without a permit a criminal offence. Repeal of this law would seriously cripple the work of this department.

The police alone cannot stop violations of the prohibitory laws. When the police have detected and apprehended violators of the liquor laws and have presented evidence to the court, they have fulfilled their part of the liquor enforcement problem. Whether habitual offenders convicted of violations of the liquor laws continue in their practices is a problem for the courts to solve. Fines inflicted as punishment for liquor violations can be charged to overhead expense. Imprisonment or fear of imprisonment awes liquor violators, but liquor violators have little respect for law and less for enforcement officers when they know that upon conviction, only fines undoubtedly will be imposed. The police alone cannot close liquor nuisances, suspected houses of ill fame or any other place suspected of carrying on illegal business. When such evidence as the police may have regarding such illegal business is presented to the court their power ends.

During the past year 3,947 liquor cases, exclusive of drunkenness, were obtained by this department. 293 persons were sentenced to jail and of this number 239 sentences were suspended. 1,465 persons were fined and 132 of these fines were suspended. 579 persons received fines and imprisonment, and of these, 483 imprisonments and 3 fines were suspended. A total of 150 persons were imprisoned for violation of the state prohibitory laws during the past year, 955 persons were found not guilty, and the balance of the cases disposed of other than by fine or imprisonment. 162 of these cases are now pending. The police cannot be expected to suppress liquor violations unless persistent offenders against the prohibitory laws, when convicted, are sent to jail.

Although illegal transportation of liquor is now a criminal offence, many motor vehicles seized for illegal transportation of liquor, the operators of which were convicted, have been returned, by order of the court, to the owners because the operator was not convicted of keeping and exposing liquor for sale in the vehicle used for illegal transportation of liquor.

No motor vehicle can be forfeited as an implement of sale unless the operator is not only convicted of transporting liquor illegally but also convicted of keeping and exposing liquor illegally for sale in the vehicle.

Before conviction can be obtained for illegal keeping and exposing liquor for sale in a motor vehicle specific evidence is required that the vehicle is being used as an implement of sale or that the car was specially built or remodelled for the purpose of transporting liquor illegally or that the owner or operator of the seized motor vehicle was a well known liquor violator. Since December 1, 1928, 60 cars were seized for illegal transportation of liquor. 47 of these operators were found guilty of illegal transportation, 13 cars were confiscated, and orders for return of 40 cars to the owners or persons entitled to possession, were made. 7 cars are now in the possession of the Property Clerk of this department awaiting disposition of the cases upon which the seizures were made.

Equity proceedings were taken against several places where liquor nuisances existed and injunctions or "padlocks" were obtained. Many cases are now being prepared and will be prosecuted during the coming year.

Some property owners have realized the seriousness of leasing real estate to liquor violators and notice has been received many times when padlock proceedings were threatened that the liquor law violators have been or would be ejected. When forced to vacate a location because of police activities, violators of the liquor law, however, cannot be prevented from establishing headquarters at places where liquor convictions have not been obtained. The actual working of the padlock law has been clearly demonstrated that the fear of injunction creates a salutary effect upon that type of property owner who is desirous only of obtaining revenue from his property without regard to the character of his tenants.

TELETYPE.

Prevention of crime and apprehension of criminals is distinctly a police problem. Human agency requires conjunction with mechanical aids to successfully combat crime. Police officers from the time of appointment are instructed carefully in the methods employed by the criminal. Crime is progressive in its technique, and new methods and means used in the commission of crime are ascertained and explained.

New mechanical devices to expedite or increase business are accepted and installed by progressive mercantile organizations, and refusal to adopt and install such innovations means commercial annihilation. Following this business principle a progressive police department must adopt mechanical devices useful and necessary either in preventing or detecting crime or in capturing the criminal.

In several previous reports the teletype system of transmitting information relative to crime has been referred to. In the twenty-one station houses in this department the instantaneous reception upon machines of messages relayed from Headquarters has been of immense value. Arlington, Brookline, Cambridge, Chelsea, Everett, Somerville, Quincy, Malden, Melrose and Medford, and the Metropolitan District Commission already have recognized the value of this method of disseminating important information relative to crime, and are now connected by teletype with Police Headquarters at Boston.

Teletype transmission of news is comparatively instantaneous, correct and unfailing, not exposed to the hazards of atmospheric conditions as is the use of the radio, or subject to errors or incorrect reception of relayed news as is possible where the telephone is used.

PLANT AND PERSONNEL.

Considerable work has been done during the past year both on the exterior and interior of police buildings carrying out plans to make station houses and police quarters comfortable and sanitary for police officers stationed therein. Necessary repairs, additions and remodelling have been done upon the station houses of Divisions 3, 5, 10, 11, 15 and 16. At my request an examination of all police buildings and boats was made by the American LaFrance & Foamite Company, and their recommendations relative to the placing of oil extinguishers, alcohol extinguishers and the ordinary fire extinguishers were carried out. Every cell, door and lock in station houses and lock-ups has been carefully examined, repaired and renewed where found necessary.

The rolling stock of the department consisting of seventy-nine automobiles and seventy-four motorcycles (including twenty-four of the latter purchased during this year) were inspected and repaired. Three new motor patrol wagons specially designed for accident cases and equipped like the other patrol wagons of the department with first aid kits and gas masks were put into commission. The summer uniform of the entire force was remodelled, and the collar, to insure comfort, changed from the military to the roll type.

A perpetual stock inventory and cost record was instituted in the office of the Property Clerk to record the requirements, distribution and cost of stock used by the department.

The City Council passed an order for a $200,000 loan which was later approved by the Mayor on April 30, 1929, for a police boat to replace the steamer Guardian which has been in police service continuously since 1896. The present unfit condition of the hull and boilers of the Guardian with the expense of repairing and remodelling the craft demonstrated clearly that a new boat should be built. The special harbor service of this boat necessitated it should be of wooden construction and steam propelled, and to insure prompt service a radio must be installed. Plans and specifications have been already drawn and proposals for construction will soon be asked for by advertising.

In addition to the patrol boat already in use a gasoline propelled boat is needed for the purpose of having continuous service during seven months of the year to protect the increasing number of valuable yachts and motor boats moored or stored in the harbor proper and surrounding waters and over which this department has jurisdiction. The proximity of many bathing beaches to these boat yards, yacht clubs and maritime associations demands constant police patrol.

An increase of one hundred and fifty men to take care of the growing needs of the department and to render proper police service to the congested and outlying districts was requested of the Mayor. Authorization to add one hundred and twenty-five men to the force was granted and these additional men are at present in service. On account of the growing needs of traffic, additional police officers are quickly absorbed.

On May 31, 1929, through joint action of the Mayor and Police Commissioner, the salaries of deputy superintendents of this department were raised from $4,000 to $4,500 per annum; the chief inspector from $3,800 to $4,300; captains from $3,500 to $4,000; lieutenants and lieutenant-inspectors from $2,600 to $2,700; and sergeants and detective-sergeants from $2,400 to $2,500.

New station houses are needed on Divisions 3, 4, 5, and 17, and garages for police vehicles needed at Stations 12 and 14.

Nineteen men will be added early in January, 1930, to the Special Service Unit now operating in motor vehicles from Headquarters. This will create two shifts of police officers operating in this unit and will insure continuous patrol of the city from 6.00 P.M. to 8.00 A.M. The present unit operating from 11.00 P.M. to 8.00 A.M. has already demonstrated its great value in preventing crime, apprehending thieves, discovering fires, and in the general protection of the lives and property of the citizens of this city.

Very respectfully,

HERBERT A. WILSON,

Police Commissioner for the City of Boston.

DISTRIBUTION AND CHANGES.

The distribution of the police force is shown by Table I. During the year 221 patrolmen were appointed (one restored to duty from pension); 10 patrolmen were discharged; 30 patrolmen resigned (thirteen while charges were pending); 24 patrolmen were promoted; 1 captain, 4 lieutenants, 2 inspectors, 4 sergeants and 11 patrolmen were retired on pensions; 1 captain, 6 sergeants and 13 patrolmen died. (See Tables III, IV, V.)

POLICE OFFICERS INJURED WHILE ON DUTY.

The following statement shows the number of police officers attached to the various divisions and units who were injured while on duty during the past year, the number of duties lost by them and the number of duties lost by police officers during the past year who were injured previous to December 1, 1928.

HOW INJURED.	Number of Men Injured in Year Ending Nov. 30, 1929.	Number of Duties Lost by Such Men.	Number of Duties Lost this Year by Men on Account of Injuries Received Previous to Dec. 1, 1928.
In arresting prisoners .	83	216	32
In pursuing criminals .	14	92	21
By cars and other vehicles	117	1,275	527

WORK OF THE DEPARTMENT.

Arrests.

The total number of arrests, counting each arrest as that of a separate person, was 91,048 as against 95,807 the preceding year, being a decrease of 3,859. The percentage of decrease and increase was as follows:—

	Per Cent.
Offences against the person	Decrease 4.71
Offences against property committed with violence	Decrease 6.19
Offences against property committed without violence	Decrease 8.92
Malicious offences against property	Increase 5.41
Forgery and offences against the currency	Increase 28.33
Offences against the license laws	Decrease 10.34

There were 15,184 persons arrested on warrants and 46,504 without warrants; 30,260 persons were summoned by the courts; 69,410 persons were prosecuted; 21,526 were released by probation officers or discharged at station houses and 1,012 were delivered to outside authorities. There were 776 extra prosecutions, making a total of 70,186 cases prosecuted. The number of males arrested was 86,182; of females 5,766; of foreigners, 24,294, or approximately 26.42 per cent; of minors 9,080. Of the total number arrested 27,706, or 30.13 per cent, were non-residents. (See Tables X, XI.)

The average amount of fines imposed by the courts for the five years from 1925 to 1929, inclusive, was $438,513.55; in 1929 it was $471,194; or $32,680.45 more than the average.

The average number of days' attendance at court was 56,055; in 1929 it was 56,032, or 23 less than the average.

The average amount of witness fees earned was $14,807.84; in 1929 it was $13,377.01 or $1,430.83 less than the average. (See Table XIII.)

DRUNKENNESS.

In the arrests for drunkenness the average per day was 92. There were 5,137 less persons arrested than in 1928, a decrease of 13.15 per cent; 25.74 per cent of the arrested persons were non-residents and 35.46 per cent of foreign birth. (See Table XI.)

The number of arrests for the year was 91,948, being a decrease of 3,859 over last year, and 3,138 more than the average for the past five years. There were 33,911 persons arrested for drunkenness, being 5,137 less than last year, and 4,929 less than the average for the past five years. Of the arrests for drunkenness this year, there was a decrease of 13.22 per cent in males and a decrease of 11.45 per cent in females from last year. (See Tables XI, XIII.)

Of the total number of arrests for the year, 91,948, 676 were for violation of city ordinances; that is to say that one arrest in 136 was for such offence, or .73 per cent.

Sixty-two and two hundredths per cent of the persons taken into custody were between the ages of twenty and forty. (See Table XII.)

The number of persons punished by fines was 33,822 and the fines amounted to $471,194. (See Table XIII.)

Fifty-three persons were committed to the State Prison, 2,818 to the House of Correction, 31 to the Women's Prison, 151 to the Reformatory Prison, and 2,161 to other institutions.

The total years of imprisonment were 1 life, 2,381 years, 9 months, 22 days (315 sentences indefinite); the total number of days' attendance at court by officers was 56,032, and the witness fees earned by them amounted to $13,377.01.

The value of the property taken from prisoners and lodgers was $237,681.18.

Eleven witnesses were detained at station houses, 141 were accommodated with lodgings, a decrease of 51 from last year. There was a decrease of 8.19 per cent in the number of sick and injured persons assisted, and an increase of about 10.48 per cent in the number of lost children cared for.

The average amount of property stolen in and out of the city for the five years from 1925 to 1929 inclusive, was $1,743,171.90, in 1929 it was $1,607,046.62, or $136,125.28 less than the average. The amount of property stolen in and out of the city, which was recovered by the Boston Police, was $3,580,849.30, as against $2,881,110.36 last year, or $699,738.94 more. (See Table XIII.)

BUREAU OF CRIMINAL INVESTIGATION.

The "identification room" now contains 71,684 photographs, 57,119 of which are photographs with Bertillon measurements, a system used by the Department since November 30, 1898. In accordance with the Revised Laws, chapter 225, section 18, and with the General Laws, chapter 127, sections 27 to 29, both inclusive, we are allowed photographs with Bertillon measurements taken of the convicts in the State Prison and Reformatory, a number of which have been added to our Bertillon cabinets. This, together with the adoption of the system by the Department in 1898, is and will continue to be of great assistance in the identification of criminals. A large number of important identifications have thus been made during the year for this and other police departments, through which the sentences in many instances have been materially increased. The records of 1,140 criminals have been added to the records of this Bureau, which now contains a total of 50,599. The number of cases reported at this office which have been investigated during the year is 31,453. There are 48,754 cases reported on the assignment books kept for this purpose and reports made on these cases are filed away for future reference. The system of indexing adopted by this Bureau for the use of the Department now contains a list of records, histories, photographs, dates of arrests, etc., of about 248,090 persons. There are also "histories and press clippings" now numbering 10,603 made by this Bureau, in envelope form for police reference.

The finger-print system of identification which was adopted in June, 1906, has progressed in a satisfactory manner, and with it the identification of criminals is facilitated. It has become very useful in tracing criminals and furnishing corroborating evidence in many instances.

The statistics of the work of this branch of the service are included in the statement of the general work of the Department, but as the duties are of a special character, the following statement will be of interest: —

Number of persons arrested, principally for felonies	1,290

POLICE SIGNAL SERVICE.

Signal Boxes.

The total number of boxes in use is 536. Of these 362 are connected with the underground system and 174 with the overhead.

Miscellaneous Work.

During the year the employees of this service responded to 1,901 trouble calls; inspected 536 signal boxes, 18 signal desks and 1,083 batteries; repaired 217 box movements, 91 registers, 103 polar box bells, 86 locks, 88 time stamps, 33 vibrator bells, beside repairing all bell and electric light work at the various stations. There have been made 110 plungers, 55 complete box fittings, 100 line blocks, 100 automatic hooks and a large amount of small work done which cannot be classified.

The maintenance of the spot lights and traffic towers has been taken over by the new traffic commission.

In the prescribed underground district five boxes were installed and connected with the underground system, one on Division 10, three on Division 12 and on one Division 14.

A new signal box was installed on Division 7, to connect with the overhead system. A new signal desk was purchased for Division 1, and is being fitted up.

A new White truck was purchased to replace one that had been in service eight years; a new Ford coupe purchased to replace an old Ford truck for inspection work, and a new Ford sedan purchased in replacement for inspection work.

There are in use in the signal service: 1 White truck, 1 Ford sedan, 1 Ford coupe and 1 Ford truck.

Ten improved box movements were purchased and are now in service, also two signal desk inking registers were purchased.

During the year the automobile patrol wagons made 51,624 runs covering an aggregate distance of 110,809 miles. There were 32,507 prisoners conveyed to the station houses, 3,309 runs were made to take injured or insane persons to station houses, hospitals or their homes and 391 runs were made to take lost children to station houses. There were 3,389 runs to fires and 646 runs for liquor seizures. During the year there were 536 signal boxes in use arranged on 72 battery circuits and 72 telephone circuits; 652,925 telephone messages and 4,287,680 "on duty" calls were sent over the lines.

The following list comprises the property in the signal service at the present time: —
